Posted by Alkaline on Thu, 15 Apr 2004 00:13:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Crimson Do you have statistics to back that up? No? Then you're talking out of your ass.

Do you need statistics? Are you just going live in denial that les than 5% of all renegade servers are running RG :rolleyes:

Crimson
Not likely. Nothing has happened that I didn't expect. Even you and other cheaters feeling threatened and trying to sway public opinion.

I don't feel threatened, I didn't make a dying-plea-of-a-post requesting people keep running RG, and eventually there servers will fill up again :rolleyes:

Crimson
I don't run RenGuard, my dear. mac runs RenGuard. And we are not taking anything from server owners. In fact, later upgrades to the SSC and BRenBot will allow more and more functionality to the server owners to control what questionable rules they choose to allow (such as crystal scope).

I don't what you say or don't say, but I see your hand in everything renegade and I'm quite frankly sick of it. I don't like the RG network having control over my servers, reading my server logs, knowing eveything about my ini's and then broadcasting that information to a central base. Not to mention Global messages and what not.

Let me make 1 thing clear, RG is a good app, RG network is not, I have no intentions of other people having access to my servers, without my permission. Which is why I won't be running RG unless it is de-centralized from the RG network.