I understand that is how RG was designed but I for one would actually prefer RG to be a stand alone application that runs separately from Renegade. At the moment I have 2 Renegade icons on my desktop one points to the RG game.exe the other points to the original game.exe.

I don't think that is a particularly good way to do it and would prefer an option that allowed me to choose if RG should be intergrated with Renegade or not.