
Subject: For the attention of Clan FUD
Posted by mahkra on Sat, 29 May 2004 16:39:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

wait, spoony, i don't understand. you're saying that we're wrong to say "Be careful when taking on enemy tanks with a Mobile Artillery" but then you yourself claim that against a good med tank you can't even win half the time.

nobody cares if you think you're really good with an arty and you can kill all the newbie no-skill tank drivers. hell, i regularly kill stealth tanks, light tanks, and flame tanks with an apc. that doesn't mean an apc is awesome against those tanks; it just means that the drivers in the tanks suck. (note: i didn't mention artilleries here because apc's actually ARE pretty good against artilleries, even if the arty driver is decent.)

if you're a lot better than another player, you'll win in a 1v1 vehicle fight most of the time regardless of the vehicles involved. skill matters a lot more than what character or vehicle you have.

i'll admit that a very experienced artillery driver can be a scary thing. but personally i think a very skilled med driver is even scarier -- almost as destructive and a helluva lot harder to kill.

it would be irresponsible to write that mobile artilleries can easily destroy any vehicle in the game, because that's not really true. the simple fact is that mobile artilleries can do massive damage, but they can also be destroyed quite easily. and as you said yourself, in a 1v1 fight, a good med tank will beat a good arty more often than not.
