

---

Subject: Question..

Posted by mahkra on Sun, 04 Jul 2004 22:29:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

spoonyratl accept. FUD won't. Says it all, really... :rolleyes:

Actually, all it says is that FUD doesn't play clan games. If we selectively accepted and declined challenges, that might say we thought we would lose the games that we refused to play. Since we simply don't play clan games against anyone, though, all it says is that we don't care about proving our skills to anyone. We'd rather just have fun and enjoy the game than waste our time proving ourselves to people whose opinions we don't care about anyway.

You may think we're pretty good. You may think we suck. Either way, we really don't give a damn, and that's why we won't play you.

(Also, who the hell plays 2v2? That's only slightly less pathetic & boring than 1v1. To each his own, I guess. But I digress...)

Spoony, you and the rest of your clannies really have no way of knowing whether or not we're any good, because we ban you guys from every server we run. (And no, not because "you're too good" or anything like that. More like because we simply don't like you.) Even if you've played a couple games with us, I'm certain you've not played enough games to actually know if we're any good.

---