Why stop with one country. Let's just speed up the whole process and take out the whole world.

It's going to happen eventually, be it a year, a hundred years or a few million years. Eventually, the planet will be gone.

So why procrastinate?

All countries whose names end in 'istan', there's just too many of them!

All countries whose names start with the letter I, and end with the letter Q.

Canada for trying to pass off ham slices as bacon, and for making their flag nothing but a large orange leaf. (And for almost literally having an army of one.)

France, just because it's France. (Hey, they only have a few military victories, one of them was against itself.)

Sir Phoenixx(You know what would be fun, to nuke the sahara desert and turn it into one big sheet of glass...)

That would be a wasted nuke and there are too many secondary effects besides the heat to consider. Discounting radiation, the shockwave would pulverize any glass that happened to get made. If you wanted to make a geologic feature, such as the Sahara, into glass you would need a high intensity(megawatt range at least) infrared laser and then you could make shapes.

I am disheartened by the number of USA responses. Assuming it's just the populace of a given country I'd do the entire middle east excluding Israel. I mean they teach the children from a young age at their public schools to despise and abhor non-muslims as pure evil and to seek and kill them.
