Do you have any anti-virus software enabled? Some utilities block RenGuard because it scans your memory and things.

Also, Norton Internet Utilities seems to always interfere with RenGuard, make sure you disable this when you startup RenGuard.

Check if your firewall doesnt block RenGuard from connecting to the network.

I know Windows XP Service pack 2 blocks renegade etc so make sure you say 'unblock' if the window pops up saying it blocks internet access to it.

I have Service Pack 2 and it doesn't block Renegade.

The default settings for SP2 is to block Renegade.

If you don't disable the firewall, it will ask you the first time you play Renegade wheter or not you wanna block internet access.

if you mean it doesnt open any more, it doe open, it just minimizes it self for some odd reason, took me a while to notice it, right click on it and click restore.

You don't have to disable your firewall and shouldn't. You just go to start, control panel, windows firewall, then the exceptions tab and check renegade, and whater else you want to let have full internet access. Btw, firewall doesn't block renegade, it just blocks some features that access the internet.
