For those of you with little faith in RenGuard, here's a post from one of the moderators of a popular cheaters' hangout. Note that this guy way overstates his own value in cheating considering how little skill is actually necessary to cheat in Renegade (on non-RG servers of course):

I need help on my project please!

Hey you guys,

mmm my first post... i hope it's not bad cause it's kinda a help request... but i'm interested in Cracking Renguard (www.renguard.com) a stupid anti-cheat for C&C Renegade... what does this file do? It scans for non-original C&C Renegade files in the Data Folder (modified presets, models,...).

I'm not sutch an experienced cracker and that program is really secured (Packed, Anti-SoftICE,...) and the security is just to mutch... i been reading manual unpacking guides lately without any real good progress...

The thing is ... first PEiD said it was packed with PEShield 0.25... i get a unpacker... unpacker says a PEShield Layer or something could not be found : \... no problem i thought... i'll use SoftICE to do sum stuff in memory... Renguard won't even show up (no error messages just won't load) when SoftICE is loaded... i thought a SoftICE spoofer would help but i only found for Win98/ME ...

I also included a screenshot... this anti-cheat ain't created by Westwood Studio's (the company that now is gone) ... by sum * fat * people (no kidding) who think they own Renegade now...

btw i'm banned from it cause i created the best game cheats for that game... and kinda killed it until renguard came...

Now they track every move i do on renguard... i change my serial... and in 3 minuts that fake serial is banned to by Blazer (fat husban of fat women crimson ;P)..

I'm asking help, advice what i should do or tips... i'm really desperate and i hope you guys at omitted could help me out... that would just be really great and i would stick and support this forum in future alot.

Thanks in Advance and sorry for my first post being a request.

LOL! It's interesting all the old WSE and Cyberpunk-like people have some things in common:

1. They say we "think we own Renegade", yet they all say that they were gods of Renegade or were killing it etc, until "we" came along.
 2. They always fall back on calling us "fat" when they can't think of any applicable insults.
 3. They don't actually play Renegade, yet for some weird reason are bent on destroying it.
 4. They are legends in their own mind. XeonTeam uses the public modding tools to change some presets, and calls himself a hacker. Cyberpunkass does the same and/or resizes some textures and calls himself the greatest Renegade hacker ever....LOL. If any of these guys actually could program or hack anything, we might actually have to work at blocking their attempts.

LMFAO!!!! ok, not too long ago on GSA I was playing renegade, someone PM me and said, "dude, I've seen you snipe before, and you are really good at it, and I think that you cheat" and I said that I'm running RG and in reply he said that "somehow you got your way around RG", and I said, "I can't even model a FUCKING character" (sorry about the language), and in reply he said "I know you've cracked RG tell me which tool you have used" and then I just got pissed and started swearing at him... but anyways, one thing I really want to know is that can you really crack RG, like a lot of people say they can?? Is it possible? and if they do, is there anyway for the RG people to find out??

And to add another thing, Crimson and Blazer, you guys are my heros and my god in renegade, and for what you have done for the renegade community, I think you guys deserve to own renegade, and for whoever that helped making RG or for whoever that has helped the renegade community, in my opinion, I think you deserve to own renegade!!!

Anything can be cracked by someone with enough skill. Fortunately Cyberpunk and his followers aren't even close to being able to. And, if someone ever does, we will certainly be aware of it and will quickly do whatever it takes to lock them about again.

Demi-gods then

Both of you have put a lot of effect, money and enegy into making the game better and deserve respect for that.

As for Cyberpunk's post, I think he was downright stupid to post it on a public forum (even a cheating one which renforums members hide in the shadows, reporting stuff back).. kinda shows what kind of loser he is. It wasn't enough to release cheats for Renegade, he has to try and ruin peoples fun on Renguard.

I just wonder if its a ploy of his? Maybe trying to appear n00bish?

Hopefully, this will never happen.

Quote:I also included a screenshot... this anti-cheat ain't created by Westwood Studio's (the company that now is gone) ... by sum * fat * people (no kidding) who think they own Renegade now...

When he refers to BHS thinking they own Renegade now, he Really knows jack shit about why they do what they do.

BHS are a team of people with advanced skills than the rest of us. They do all this stuff, create an Anti-Cheat, Fix bugs (within their limits) & Support users in the best shape or form they can. People don't seem to realise that they are who they are for one reason. And it all narrows down to one word, 'Trust'.

People Like HIM. Don't get this you see, all they see is another kiddy cowboy who 'provide' things to sink to his level.
Stupid little web-terrorist.

Ok, I'm done.

this is just a glimpse into the mind of the idiot, cyber is very much in that category.

I find it ironic that he says BHS are the "wannabe owners of Renegade" for making stuff which'll help the game. If tards like Cyberpunk didn't make stuff to try to kill it, they probably wouldn't have to. But hey, the old "if you don't like it, don't use it" motto is far too complicated to understand.

By the way, I'm sure anyone who's been into WOL chats lately has seen his bots, there are some in other places too which have been advertising Cyber's Leet Renguard Crack!! Coming Soon!!! when actually he can't even get the job started.

threads like this give me hope.

First let me say I think the RG team have done a great job.
I remember the first release and it pretty much made me stop playing Ren (no offense), as my choices were either: servers full of cheats or servers lagging like hell with RG.
The newest version is VERY good and id like to say thx very much for the time and effort.

now nextly () as ive said in a post somewhere else:

could someone please inform moderators in HALFRG/RG servers that its *nearly IMPOSSIBLE TO CHEAT in them. HALFRG=!forcerg, problem solved.

seriously spread the word, cause I have been running RG constantly since I started playing Ren again but i still have these (Both from a half-rg server):

It's almost impossible to cheat with RenGuard, I can't say it's 100% of people, but it's really really close. Posts like this guy's show you just how close to 100% we're at. And RenGuard 1.04 is in development, which will close the gap even further.

I won't say it's impossible to cheat, but if you're running RenGuard, you should be given a little extra consideration that you just might be skilled.

I had some fun with google today. It's fun to watch the "leet haxors" go back and forth about Renegade and how it's gay yet list it as their favorite game and how Renguard is flawed but nobody can get by it but they wanna cheat using inis but they cause errors etc etc...

CyberPuke

If you won't support WOL Servers ... it would be bether to just take it down... then your very happy cause you won't have people complaining of those spam bots, cheaters, hackers however you wanna call it... and you could use servers for next games you create yey! the onley side effect but you don't seem to care anyway after what you guys done... just leave wol die. lose loads of EA Fans... what you already lost. So if you won't support it... and won't kill it/take it down... I Cyberpunk will take care of it.

So let me try to understand Cyberwank's logic.

If EA won't support Renegade, concentrating their resources on newer games, Cybergizz will make the worst of a bad situation.

But it doesn't stop there! He hates N00bstories and Renguard so much, he'll make new cheats which will end up making more people turn to Renguard, thereby supporting Renguard in his own retarded way!

I will not edit my post, and I stand by my comment. Most of WSE acted the same way Cyberfag does, getting their jollies on pissing people off and exploiting stuff, and then trying to say it was actually some sort of right to do it since there were things that they could exploit.

I can't believe you signed up on these forums just to threaten me for mentioning the holy name of WSE. Really, really...sad.

I didn't have a fucking problem with you or n00bstories or crimson or anybody untill you mentioned WSE, I was my own person in a good spirit Either way, Blazer is in the right here. WSE fucked up games, Cyberpunk is trying to fuck up games. Neither of those facts can be denied, and whether you were part of WSE or not (which you were, but what the hell, for the argument's sake) is irrelevant in every way.

WSE and Cyberpunk are quite the same. Why you want to defend either one boggles the mind.

Did I insult you personally? No, so why are you acting so defensive? Can you honestly say that WSE was not a bunch of troublemakers? Anyone who even remembers them would agree. If I say a turd smells bad, I'm not trying to offend the turd...it's just shit. WSE wasn't much more than a bunch of script kiddie troublemakers who fancied themselves "hackers". Its simply an opinion, and a popular one. I have nothing against you personally, other than the multitude of attacks that you personally launched against me, Crimson, and Westwood Online. After you left WSE you seemed to mellow out and grow up, to be honest I'm surprised you are acting this way, so I'm half inclined to think its not even you, maybe even Cyberpussy using your name just to cause a fuss.

Either way, I'm done talking. We all know what WSE was, and that is our opinion. You can think what you want of it as well, but you certainly aren't going to bully me into edting my posts or make idle threats over bullshit that has been dead and buried.

I will say anyones name I please, and if you don't like my opinion of the shitty things you did in the past, then you should either find a time machine and go back and not do those things, or just STFU and let sleeping dogs lie.

You guys are a barrel of laughs...simply mention the name of your old hallowed hacker-wannabe group and you come out of the woodwork itching for a fight. I won't bother banning you for coming here threatning and insulting (especially since I know you guys have a hundred proxies), but I suggest you tactfully withdraw. You guys are obviously bored since its the weekend and nothing better to do than spout off some badass sounding words lol. My patience does have limits though.

Yeah making cheats for renegade is nothing at all compared to crashing everyones servers, hacking WOL, hacking peoples WOL passwords, and lets not forget one of the first cheats, "Final Renegade". Guess it wasn't final, and obviously neither is your adoration of a group of dissidents that most people would be ashamed of....are you guys gonna be 80 years old in wheelchairs and saying "WSE pwnz j00! If it makes you feel better to mention me then so be it, clearly you cant move on with things and have problems with the past. I thought you were a bit more mature then this blazer and as such would have moved on a long time ago like a lot of the old crew has done todote.

How did WSE come out of this?

Let me define the purpose of WSE, or it's old purpose.

I joined WSE in 2000 because I liked to cheat, I knew Hybrid31 and all those RA2 trainer guys. A RA2 oldbie myself, I wanted to check out this site offering this information on how to exploit the game.

Sure, I got there and I posted many posts, along with all the other WSE members who reside in this community today; namely Xtrm2Matt, Kholdstare, Pak, Adad and Epyon. I hardly ever used the trainers on the site because I realized the purpose of WSE wasn't about making a cheating nation like Cyberpunk or myg0t.

The purpose of WSE was to get people to fuck the game up so badly that EA would finally fix it. Which, because they're the lazy fuckers they are, hardly ever did. We never trolled, but we were trolled constantly by PCNC. As a moderator on the second generation forums of WSE, I battled the active WSE member Adam Faubert(slavikpcnc) often. I'm not saying we were always innocent, but often we kept to ourselves.

We didn't fuck up the games, EA did by not patching them, plain and simple, and I comemorate Blackhand Studios' effort in trying to fix up Renegade. Just like the forums we're on here, the weight of Westwood was dropped on this fine community.

WSE lost it when it evolved into GX, which in the beginning, was a poor attempt to clone WSE. As a moderator, I often suggested to the now passed Sasha to ban reeceq, the site's owner. But anyways, WSE became a cheat factory after Frodo and Yoshio took over and they basically fueled GX. That's when I left and joined Lithium's community, but that's another story.

So again I ask, why was WSE brought up? And why are we fighting about something so stupid?
