EDIT: Too bad it doesn't work... says I need a cd. I've read the readme that came with it and done that to play it. Still doesn't work. Anyone ideas?

It's the game complaining about the CD, not our fix. We are working on something else relating to that though.

You need to play with the video settings in CCSETUP.EXE. I have them set to 640x480, backbuffer in video memory and allow hardware filled blits. Compatibility mode is Windows 95 and visual styles off.

As for "Awesome. Just awesome. Good job Silent Kane.", you need to thank Scorp as well, he did alot work for it.

It does work for both, LAN games and internet games. But unlike wchat this can be used to play with four players at once.

Okay, I'm having some trouble with this again. When I make a LAN game within my home network I can play just fine, but when I get online my computers don't seem to connect to one another. I have tried this with 2 computers, both running XP, both hosting once, and I even tried it over a VPN (with LAN settings for that of course) but none of it seems to work. Both computers run fine in LAN mode, but they just won't work over the internet. Are there some ports I need to open on my router for this program, or is there something else that I need to do?

Hello everyone,

I just found the link to your multiplayer fix yesterday (great idea and great work of you guys). Unfortunately I can't get it to work. I tested it with 3 different PCs over LAN, Internet and even VPN with no success. The settings were used as stated above (Win 95 compatibility, visual Styles off, Router UDP Port 5000 opened for Internet play, no firewall used etc.). 2 PCs are running Win XP, one is running Win 2K. The Network menu can be accessed, but I can't see other players in the lobby or games of other players.

My question is wheter there is anybody who managed to get this program working and could help me in any way. Also I'd like to know if this program is still being worked on, as I've seen it's currently in beta stage. I'd be thankful for any kind of help because playing C&C 95 over LAN with 4 Player support is something I've been dreaming of for a long time

Btw., I'm using the german version of C&C 95, I don't know if this is important, but perhaps this could be related to the problem.

edit: Just forget my posting, after endless tries I reinstalled my C&C and now your fix is working just fine. Thanks a lot, a really great piece of software.

Commendations and thanks for all your efforts on trying to get C&C TD working as it should be!

In response to general problems: the fix for the error when trying to Connect/Host is to enable windows 95 compatibility on the MPSetup.exe, not just C&C95.

And what is the current purpose of this?

"LookUpServer=horus.understorm.net"

I can guess, but doesn't seem usable at this time.

Also, could you outline how this program + dll works? I am quite interested out of my own curiosity. Plus a timescale to your next release and possibly some progress reports?

Thank you for your time.

I've found my problem for playing over LAN, as it was explained to me, the program only enumerates LAN IP's in the following range 10.*.* and 192.168.*.*

To play over lan, change your DHCP assigning address to conform to those above, to make it work.

New version available (RC):

http://www.understorm.net/dump/cnc95mp\_rc.zip

This new release fixes some minor problems.

Extract contents of the above zip file in your C&C95 directory and read mpreadme.txt for the rest of the installation.

This is a full installation, you don't need the old beta version.

I have updated this little prog (which is just awesome by the way!) to include the correct version number, as well as the WindowsXP Style manifest... is this ok to distribute? Also, if you add ";" in front of the line "LookUpServer=horus.understorm.net" in "thipxcfg.ini" then it loads a lot quicker (if you only want to play LAN, like me)

It works, Silent Kane and Scorpio9a have done more for C&C95 and RA1, then EA has in its entire existence. Its kind of sad but the only reason I bought a new computer was so I could play RA multiplayer (because I only use to have one computer) and in the end it didn't worked (Ra multiplayer that is). That was three years ago, and just now I find this link. Ah well. It works now and I can play all the mods I made for RA long ago so I am Happy.
Also the link for provided at the start of this post doesn't work anymore so here is the working one.
<http://www.understorm.net/>

Could you guys do the same thing for Tib Sun and RA2 (for multiplayer LAN, Internet obviously works fine)? What I mean is could you make Tib Sun and RA2 use TCP instead of IPX like what you have done for RA1 and C&C95?

Do the same thing for C&C95.

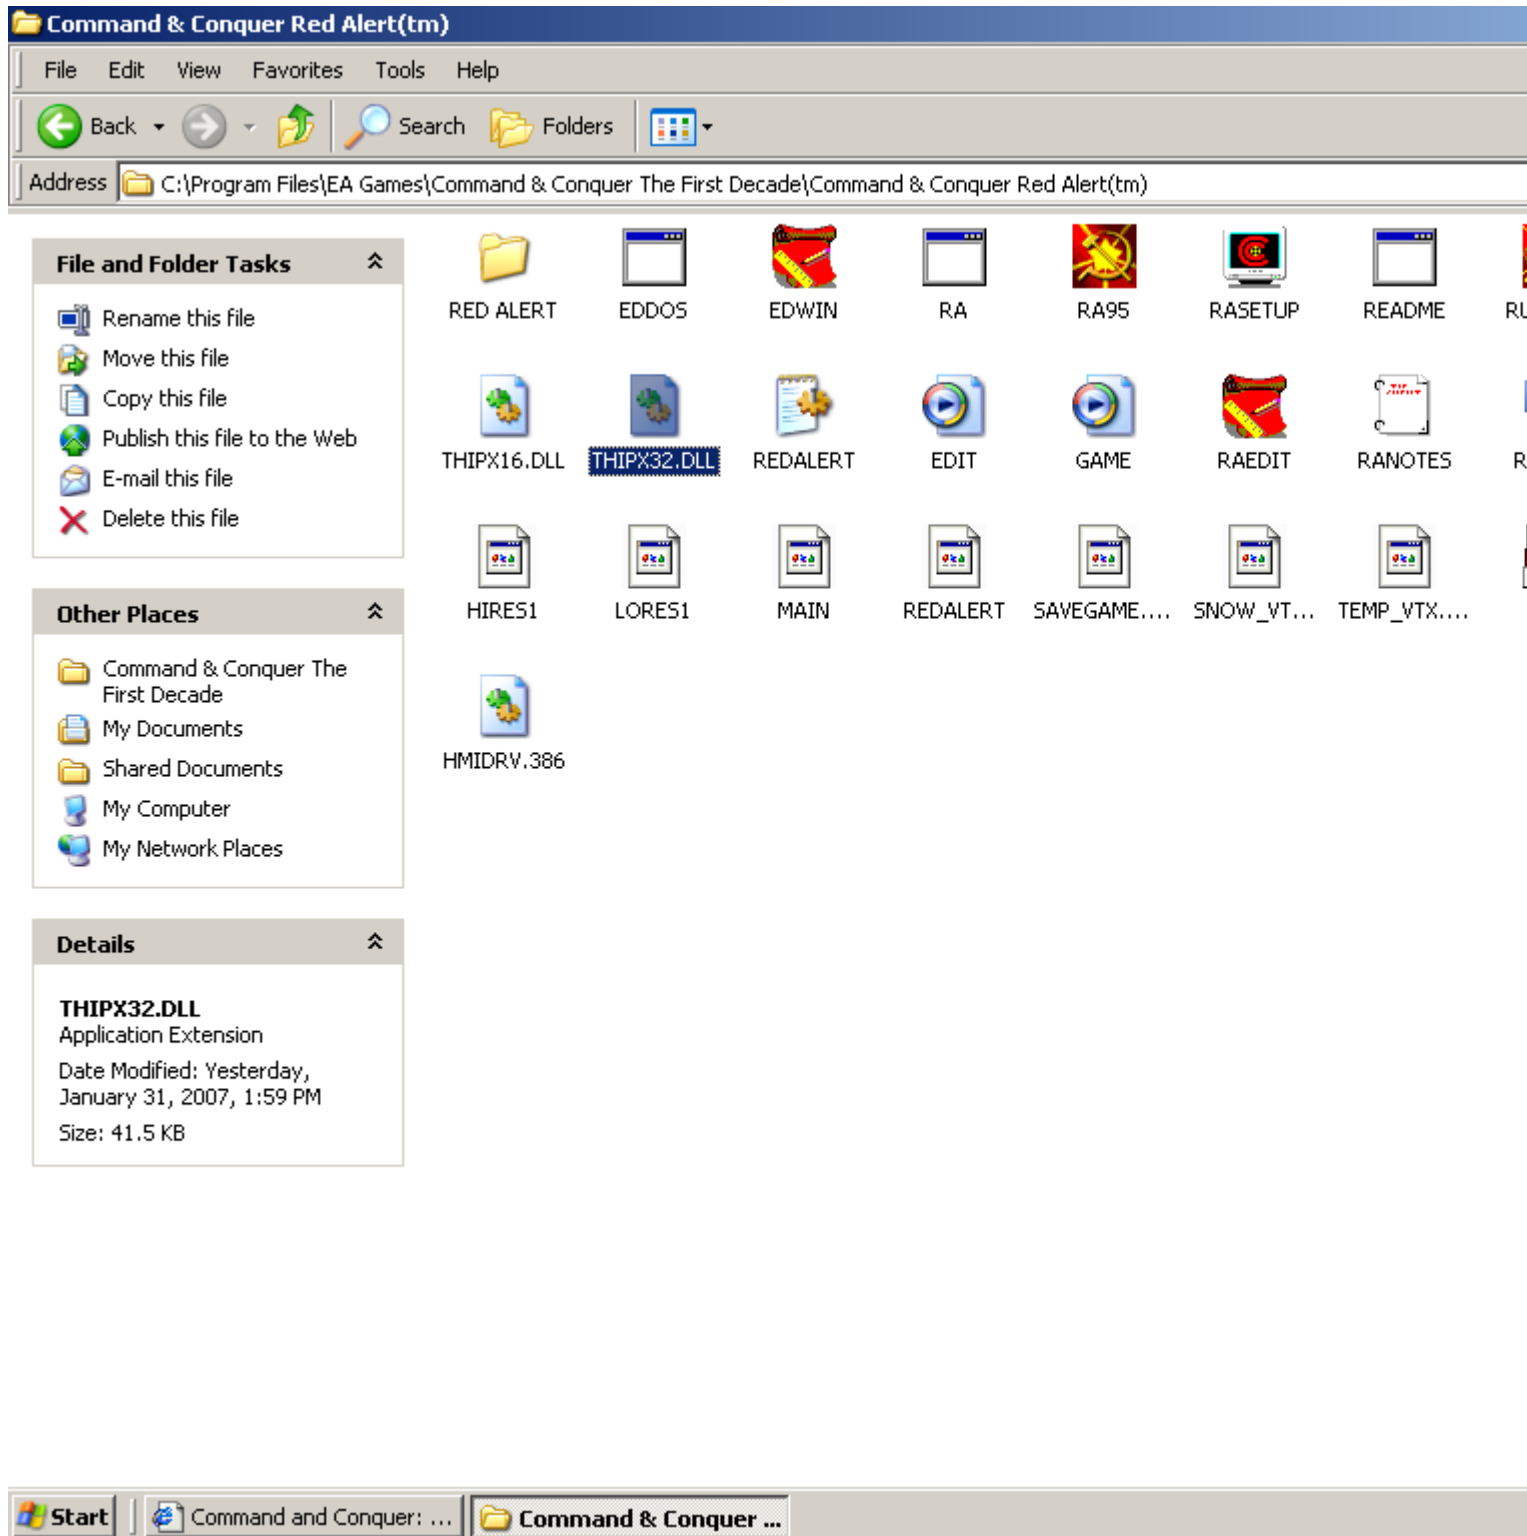

The only thing I have seen change was a network option appeared in the multiplayer menu. But I have 4 computers and thats enough for me.

I'm reuploading the file because the old understorm link died a long-ass time ago, and because <http://www.understorm.net/thipx/> has only one of the files that was in that package.

It is possible to get like an AI skirmish version to this, because I want to do that for C&C 95 except that is the only game that does not have it.

CnC Gold has ai in multiplayer, but it doesn't work on vista (CnC Gold that is).

I assume the only way to get AI in the map in multiplayer (over the internet) is by placing it on the map?

No, I've tried this with RA95 and it doesn't work. It would only need a few modifications though....
The closest thing that you can get is hamachi.

I would google it but that seems like that type of word that I would get really weird stuff.

Well, I created a topic about this without seeing this one.

Anyway, I got multi-player working. However, and this feature was the same way like 10 years ago when I last tried it...the AI doesn't make a BASE. So after they rush you, it's over and it's like....wtf? I didn't even have time to build Obelisk. :\

Anyway, is there anyway someone can edit the AI so that they'll make a based and attack and/or defend?

I've been searching for hours today for C&C95 utilities and I've found nothing of this nature.

I would be controlled by a section called [Base] in the map it self. This listing under that would tell the AI the positions of where to build. But it would be best just to play RA95 as that ai is a lot better.

So, you're telling me it can't be done? Even though I still play RA95, in all honesty playing RA95 will not "cure" me of my desire to comp stomp with my brother or any of my other friends in C&C 95. It's 2 totally different games. Playing the campaigns are fun, but it's just not a comp stomp.

If someone can point me in the right direction on how to make the AI do this, please give me some pointers and I'll try it myself. I think it would be a good thing. By doing this you'd be making more people happy because now there's 2 "new" ways to play C&C95 online, instead of just people vs people.
