i hope you read this ack i also hope you correct me of everything i say ^_^ i love seeinn you alwas correcting people, makes me laugh.

ok i have alwas wondered this, why is ack such a dick. but i have noticed this in all of his post's, everything you say or do he critisizes or says he can ALWAS do better, i looked back in the mod part of the forum and i found an m16 model, it was alot better then ack's, he alwas thinks he can do better, ever notice that?

ok i alwas see ack critisizing. i find it kinda stupid that people actualy respond to what he say's.. your not going to win he will argue intell there is nothing to say. i personaly (after reading alot of of his posts) think he got major brain damage that made him such a prick. i notice he alwas is saying shit about reborn.. i have 1 thing to say, reborn stuck to ren and didnt move becouse it were most of the people were. notice, ack, how alot of people stoped playing renalert after you switched engines twice. i hope you correct everything i am say i just like to say thing and everytime i im you on aim witch by the way is aircraftkiller on aim you say something then block me its funny, you have nothing to say for your illogicy stupid actions.. also why wont you share the beta files with the community when you left? please answer me, thanks

Quote:He wrote you're, not your, because you're is the contraction of "you are", which does not mean the possessive form of the word your.

So much for that being pointed at me, perhaps it was you instead? Get a little more education, kid. point proven.

I'm not going to point out any two posts because all you have to do is go look at 90% of your posts, and you'll plainly see what I'm talking about.

Yes, I have a reason for not liking Nightma, and it is a valid reason, but that reason shall not be graced upon you because you are not worthy.

Not really, I honestly don't care to defend, side with, or argue with Aircraftkiller.

Edit: ben, people that I like are granted the knowledge, but you fall quite a ways short of that.

so, you think your smarter then me, wow proven one thing, your not as smart as you think you things all the way back when these were still the Westwood boards. Anyone remember what the OLD mods did to these threads? That's right- they closed them on sight and temp-banned anyone who got involved (I should know...one little post in ONE of these things back then and I got a week off!). IIRC, it got to a point where the people who started the threads started getting perma-bans. Why? Because the threads existed for the purpose of trolling.

Ooo, ACK corrected your spelling and/or grammar (probably both) a few times. Whoop-dee-doo. Want to know what's worse? Angry morons getting pissed and posting crap and starting flame wars because they didn't like being told their spelling sucks. Oh, so ACK said your model/texture sucks. Deal with it. This is the fucking internet. If you post a picture on a forum and ask people what they think of it...well, you asked for it, and you're gonna get it. You wanted opinions, and you put it out there for all to see; don't go crying about it when someone gives you a piece of their mind on the issue.

Bottom line: whoever trolled first, you let yourself get worked up over absolutely nothing. A few words (Nod, not NOD, for a classic!) displayed as pixels on a computer screen. Who's the bigger fool?

Oh, and a note on spelling: This is a forum, not in game chat. You are under no pressure to post five seconds or less after opening the reply box. You DO have the time to edit your message and (here's the kicker) spell out all of the words you use! Not to mention punctuation... basically, the more carefully you word your posts, and the more attention you pay to spelling and grammar, the more likely people are to take you seriously. Nobody is going to care what you have to say if you come across like an 8-year-old straight out of a bad game of Counterstrike. No offense intended.

I think you're a little confused here... It's impossible for any M16 model to be better then Aircraftkiller's, because he hasn't made an M16 model.

"some source on dictionary.com"spam

1. <messaging> (From Hormel's Spiced Ham, via the Monty Python "Spam" song) To post irrelevant or inappropriate messages to one or more Usenet newsgroups, mailing lists, or other messaging system in deliberate or accidental violation of netiquette.

It is possible to spam a newsgroup with one well- (or ill-) planned message, e.g. asking "What do you think of abortion?" on soc.women. This can be done by cross-posting, e.g. any message which is crossposted to alt.rush-limbaugh and alt.politics.homosexuality will almost inevitably spam both groups. (Compare troll and flame bait).

Posting a message to a significant proportion of all newsgroups is a sure way to spam Usenet and become an object of almost universal hatred. Canter and Siegel spammed the net with their Green card post.

If you see an article which you think is a deliberate spam, DO NOT post a follow-up - doing so will only contribute to the general annoyance. Send a polite message to the poster by private e-mail and CC it to "postmaster" at the same address. Bear in mind that the posting's origin might have been forged or the apparent sender's account might have been used by someone else without his permission.

Usenet newsgroup: news:news.admin.net-abuse.

See also netiquette.

So according to this this WHOLE topic is spam.

Can this topic die now?

I've known that for a while, actually. They're also making a Doom movie. . .which doesn't take place in Hell. . .and has aliens, not hellspawn, as the main group of meanies. What a bunch of balonga.

don't get to excited. Remember, videogames turned movies have the knack for being pretty bad. A few that come to mind is Final Fantasy, and Mario.

I just got done watching Collateral, that movie with Tom Cruise and Jamie Foxx. Cool night club shootout; pretty good movie (nearly any movie with random killing is good).

Tom Cruise might be an arrogant scientologist asshole, but I have to admit, he is a pretty good actor.

I was thinking that if Arnold Schwarzenegger can become Governor, then Harrison Ford can definitely become President. After all he has portrayed one in almost five different movies. By the way I just finished watching Air Force One. Good Movie and a few good lines.
