Subject: Xcc mixer
Posted by steve8274 on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 23:44:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i have a little problem with XCC mixer. it ALWAYS gets an error when its on the m00 tut.mix. is this a problem everyone has? does Xcc have to be in a special folder or something? i really wanna know because i need to make a skin.

Thanks in advance if anyone can help

Subject: Re: Xcc mixer
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Fri, 09 Sep 2005 00:43:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mine does that too, It seems like it freezes on a random .mix from the first CnC game it searches through. If I hide the folder of the first one it searches, it freazes on a .mix from the next game, etc.

I just add a "-" to the end of the Westwood folder when I open XCC Mixer, and delete the hyphen after it's opened so it doesn't freeze trying to search for .mix files.

Subject: Re: Xcc mixer
Posted by steve8274 on Fri, 09 Sep 2005 01:37:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

sorry i dont really under stand the last part you mean like "westwood" or westwood"_" or what?

Ohh and thx

Subject: Re: Xcc mixer
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Fri, 09 Sep 2005 02:07:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The folder is "Westwood" (C:\Westwood or whatever), just select the folder Westwood folder, right click->rename, and add any character to the end of the folder name so it doesn't know that the games are there. Then remove the new letter after XCC starts.