I currently have 100 invites left. If you would like a GMAIL account, provide your current email address in a reply to this topic and a brief description of why you want a GMAIL account.

Every man and his dog has a gmail account these days. I spammed a total of about 400 invites to a friend these past few months.

It's the thought that counts though.

If no one here has at least 5 Gmail accounts, they should be smacked, especially if they want one.

By the way, your signature is colossal.

It's slightly big, not colossal. Any smaller and you can't read it.

By the way, your signature is colossial.

I couldn't make that signature any smaller, it wouldn't have showed the Black Hand Sniper properly.

Don't use paint. It's a sin to use MSPaint for signatures and banners.

you don't need an image that takes up 1/4 of your screen.. what's wrong with just making it smaller; something like this?

Because I don't ever remember that I can mess with the attributes. What I meant, is I can't cut the basic image down anymore. The basic image was the Nod logo with that background, I just added in that picture.

Which is why you get the trial version of Photoshop or whatever, and then shrink it that way.
