Tanya's new Colt .45s are finally complete. The texture was made by Venompawz, this being her first weapon texture. The model was of course made by me (<http://renalert.planetcnc.gamespy.com/forum/index.php?showto pic=7038>).

Next to be textured is the Beretta.

Good model.

Same with the texture except that the main metal part makes the gun appear to be made out of aluminum cans. In-game though, it won't matter. Nice work.

That texture looks seriously awesome man.

Got any in-game screenshots?

Awesome. One question: wouldn't those screws in the clip affect the, umm, bullets? Correct me if I'm wrong.

Magazine, and they weren't supposed to be screws, but holes to see how many bullets are left.

---

It is kind of misleading when first looking at an image of a real magazine, but when looking closely you can see that that's the spring showing up through the holes and not slots on the screw heads.

Magazine reference

This will be fixed.

Here's some W3D shots with high detail. This is what it'll look like ingame for those of us with good graphics cards.

That pistol is very sexy.

But was the US involved in the first Red Alert?
