Subject: Keyboard
Posted by Viking on Fri, 17 Mar 2006 00:00:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Got this new keybord cus old one crapped out.

There are button ontop of it with pictures

Here they are:
Arrow to left (says back above it)
Arrow to right (says Forward)
House(web/serch)
magnifying glass (serch)
envelope button (says mail above it)
Calculator button (says nothing above it) the mail button opens up a e-mail program but its the wrong one and the rest do nothing how can i set them to open the programs they are obveusly ment for?

It isent nessicary to do this just thing it would be cool to do sence the buttons are there.

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by light on Fri, 17 Mar 2006 03:07:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The keyboard should have come with a software CD. Stick that in and install the software.

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by Viking on Sat, 18 Mar 2006 00:06:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dident come with a CD and it says no sofrware required on box...

It is a microsoft keybord tho?

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by danpaul88 on Sat, 18 Mar 2006 16:36:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

have you tried opening internet explorer (or your browser of choice) before pressing the forward / back / home / search buttons?

Since, you know, thats what they are supposed to do... of course being a microsoft product you most likely just wasted your money...

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by Viking on Sun, 19 Mar 2006 01:35:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

... yah ...

youre right bout wasting my money...

actully my dad bought it...

so his money

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by bbelt2005 on Mon, 20 Mar 2006 02:34:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

if you get the model number of the keyboard you can go on the microsoft website or sumwhere else and download the drivers/software and that might work

---

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by light on Mon, 20 Mar 2006 09:56:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MS Keyboards and mice are actually quite good.

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by danpaul88 on Mon, 20 Mar 2006 13:13:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

really? that does surprise me

I see the brand 'Microsoft' and run a mile! My keyboard and mouse are both Logitech (and my speakers and joystick come to think of it...   )

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by bbelt2005 on Mon, 20 Mar 2006 16:47:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

that is also a good company i have also used logitech and microsoft and they are both good companys

---

Subject: Re: Keyboard
Posted by mision08 on Tue, 21 Mar 2006 02:31:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You just need to install a GUI or keyboard applet or key-map program. Whatever you want to call it.
It will be under input devices at majorgeeks.com
I personally use one from HP 's web site, but I installed about 15 of them before I found one I like.
I guess what I am using is an applet because it adds the "button" tab into my keyboard properties.
Then I can change the address to whatever as you can see the photo key is actually a web address. The pictures next to the keys are propaganda I tell you.

File Attachments
1) KBD_Applet.JPG, downloaded 634 times