If you actually manage to throw remote c4 up into the air and make it land on you, if you do this engough, you will eventually become a suicide bomber!!!! Get an apc, or any other vehicle, when you see a target, well Im geussing that you'll know what to do.

Doing all that ^^ kills you, but if somebody else mines you either with proximity c4, or remote c4 it won't kill you! Plus you can do some damage.

What's The Thing That Terrists Yell Out Before The Blow Themselves Up? Isn't it: Allah, or Allah Kuba???

Be a suicide bomber in real life.

First of all,
Quote:Be a suicide bomber in real life.
Second, when you throw C4 into the air, the odds of it landing on top of you are next to none.

Yes, throw C4 all over yourself and run into an enemy unit to blow yourself up, as opposed to doing something useful, like:

- Destroying the enemy harvester
- Attacking some buildings
- Repairing some buildings
- Being tank support
- Even buying a nubjet and pointwhoring enemy tanks is a better use of time and credits

And don't have a friend coat you in proxys unless you want a very angry team. That's the worst use of proximity C4 I've ever heard, and it wastes your team's mine limit.

the only one is get a friend to load you up with a bunch of timers in a very short time span, run into the tunnels or near tanks as a sbh and kill everything. This is very difficult to do and as Dover said, there's much more productive things you could do.

of course, this still wrecks any mining already done by your team, because ALL mines (not just proxies) are counted in the mine limit

Timed c4 does not count in the mine limit... Only remotes and proxies.

BTW, does Timed C4 have its own mine limit, or can you lay an infinite amount?

No limit on timed c4. The proxy and remotes both count against the limit. So if the limit is 30 you should only lay about 26 proxies to allow for remotes on a rush.

It sucks because for some reason apparently you can only do it once!?!?

I agree, it's either you keep doing it or you just do it once.
