One of the Windows Updates for XP is known to mess with RenGuard (specifically the one which reminds you about WGA).

If you have installed it there's no way to remove it (officially anyway)... you can try some of the unofficial ways to remove it (check google), but be aware you could mess up windows using some of them..

pff.. blaming BHS for Renguard problems is like blaming Microsoft for Windows problems!

(ok, lame attempt at a humerous insult)
