Use this: http://www.rarlab.com/download.htm

After 30 days, a window will ask you to buy it each time you open the program. Just know that you don't have to; click cancel.

I have used WinRAR for a long time. Until I discovered TUGZip. It's way better.

I suggest uninstalling WinRAR and trying TUGZip. (No annoying popups ever either) why uninstall winrar? surely you can have both installed...

personally I normally use CLI based unzippers, there's no need for a GUI to unzip a couple of files.....

Sorry I don't know as much as you. I don't know what the heck your talking about but I trust you do.

And he's right, you don't have to uninstall WinRAR. Just try TUGZip, keep the one you like better. No sense in keeping them both over time of course.
