are you being serious!?

locking a vehicle isnt available on all servers, bnut most servers use 3 commands: !bind !lock and !bl (bind/lock) you have to be in the vehicle though.

You need a key, then you put the key into the keyhole and turn it around until you hear a click it is not avaliable on all servers, my server didn't have it untill Catt998 ported ssaow to scripts.dll btw: Cat998, Thanks. i couldn't use ssaow because the scripts.dll it had didn't have rlmon.

2.92.

i know what he meant, it's just that he asks a question like that on a forum, when all he had to do is ask ingame - would have been more time efficient for him

Not a stupid question to ask, So the17doctor be shut up

If you had ssaow installed you would just press "insert". That would auto lock it. Many servers do have this "lock system". The commands are !bind,!lock,and !bl (!unbind - !unlock).

Note that a locked vehicle is only locked against your own team members, not against the enemy.

It's to stop vehicle theft by your teammates, not by the opposition.
