I downloaded RenGuard, it works, before CorePatch installed it had me download 2 maps, not a big problem at all. Anyways, now my FPS has dropped down by 5-10 average. Not that big, but in big game Servers, it gives me issues. I can live with it, but is there a fix to it?

When I play with RenGuard on now, the game will shut down and quit at random, can you guys fix this too? Maybe a new patch should fix it, or is it just me?

Thanks for the help

I lied because I simply did not want to use this product, but now I felt I was left no choice because of the Renegade Servers are all turning out to be Half Renguard or Full Renguard.

I find that completely stupid and unfair that they REQUIRE it.... I mean, what for? They make u get an anti-lie-cheat program that no body trusts...

Btw, I used to have that problem... but Now it just stopped.

Maybe your FPS drop has something to do with your resolution?

Have you set your resolution to a bigger number?

cause that slows down your game, if your computer can't handle it.

Despite the fact that "anything on a computer can be subverted", RenGuard still catches many people every-single-day. Just because you have heard that its possible to bypass, doesn't mean its useless. Thats like saying to remove the airbags from your car because you might die in an accident anyway.

But then you get idiots claiming that airbags will prevent anyone from dying and that everyone should have airbags, and that if you don't have airbags you shouldn't be allowed to drive your car in their country.

THAT is the problem with RenGuard. Idiotic n00bs have mis-used and abused current incarnations of the RenGuard SSC to no end, as BRenBot's implementation of the RG SSC is, well, half-baked. (As in moderators cannot stop a !forcerg in progress or bar an abuser from !forcerg'ing players without kicking/banning them.) I need more experience with NR 0.3.x to quantify its SSC though. (Why didn't a !haltforcerg moderator command make it into BRenBot? I really want to know.)
