Hey guys,
recently a weird problem started happening on my XP machine. Everytime I start up renguard, it pops up for a sec, then minimizes. I click it nothing happens, I have to right click>maximize, it to see it (which then takes the full screen), hit that box bottom up top, and instead of resizing it (like normally to the like 480x w/e box thing), it minizies it

Its getting so dam annoying...

The cause for this is using the button to minimise all programs when Renguard is open.

In your registry you need to change the x / y axe for Renguard. Can't remember where exactly.

Your renguard is there, it's just positioned outside the screen.
