I have noticed that the newest version of BR 1.5 does not have a !seen module.

I thought there was a plugin kicking around that replicated this function. If yes could someone point me in the correct direction. If no then we will do without it.

Thanks!

www.lmsbc.com -> download the seen plugin there!

The seen-plugin stored a huge amount of data which wasn't used by many servers.

The only reason it was removed was due to the amount of data it stored, which was a waste of space on servers which did not use it. At the time it was removed I also released a plugin which replicated its functionality completely. Plugins are available at Thanks dp. I have been to that site before just never noticed the seen plugin. It was only added a week or so ago, that is probably why.

I do realize it stores a lot of data but many of us in our clan like the feature.

Thanks for making it available as a plugin!

Actually it was updated a week ago, its been on there for a few months. I tend to reset the date on them when I upload an updated version.
