For about two weeks, my bot was working fine in my channel, the next day, I wake up, go to check, the channel is empty, no test from the fds relayed to the channel, nothing.

I try to do a command, it didnt work, so I exit the bot, bot returns, restart the server, nothing, it has stopped relaying text, only a few commands work, like !pl, !cp, !adminlist !maplist, few others, but !gi and !msg will not work, but!, when you do a !msg whatever, you dont see it in the IRC channel, but you do see what you just said in the fds window.

So, I go test this in a new channel, was working fine, then it stopped for no reason.

Moved it to a other new channel, its working fine now, its only me and the bot in there and am not letting anyone elas join just incase someone is fucking with it, I dont know how or if they could or why they are, but I cant think of any other reason why its fucking up?

All the settings are correct, port numbers and all that.

So anyone know of a reason why its fucking up for no reason other then to piss me off?

Any help is welcome, thank you.

Found out the problem was that someone set the channel to -c which bans colours...
