I just install ren again, patched, renguarded, failed to locate master servers, no-cd'd, failed to locate master servers.

SS:

Now, before you ask; yes, all firewalls have been turned off and tried once more, same thing.

I have ADSL2+ and perfect access to ren forums.

Are you sure windows firewall has stayed off? Mine likes to re-enable itself from time to time, also, does your router have a firewall?

100% shore ;P

Windows firewall has been off since forever.
Kerio turns off with 2 clicks of the mouse.

Both off, and it still hates me.
According to Kerio, Renguard doesn't even attempt to connect to the internet.

I'll try installing the .net frameworks again, was RG built with .net?

edit: did a windows update, all upto date except for a smart card driver

oh, who wants to see my huge d3d error log after CP2 installation? (might be just 7.54 rar'd, but it's really 1.9mb's) open ren->blank screen, and still, can't find master servers.

If you had installed scripts 3 or higher before installing, then CP2 replaces the scripts.dll and bhs.dll - file with an older version. Reinstall scripts 3 or higher or delete 3d8.dll from your renegade dir.

I've been having this problem for some months now, and not only does it refuse to find master servers or auto-update, when I click the close button it decides to stay resident and not let me load game2.exe until I End-Task it.

It could probably be fixed by reinstalling and such, but I've decided it's a hell of a lot easier to just not bother with it at all.
