You can download that version of scripts without the patch.
It's version 2.9.2 of scripts I believe.

Why would you recommend free crashes and other AIDS?

Why do you continue to insult someone who has done nothing but help? Why do you continue to deride his work?

And, on a technical side note, you CANNOT contract AIDS from using Jonwil's custom client scripts, which (incidentally) have made more functionality in the Renegade engine than previously thought possible. Until you start to be nice and helpful, the communiy will continue to at least mildly dislike you.

You're acting like a three year old over that "code theft" thing, grow up, you're intelligent, so use your brain and realise that this STUPID FUCKING VENDETTA is holding this community back. You and Jonwil are perhaps the brightest two people in terms of the Ren engine, and all you ever do is fight.

Idiot.

Oh, and you (and now I) are off topic.

For someone who managed to create a file extractor for a game that at that point had only a demo/beta available, you're shockingly unintelligent. Try speaking to some people.

In other words, please grow up, you present a great hope to this community with your talent, and spend more time posting rude crap. I fail to believe someone that intelligent is this immature and pathetic, basically. I don't know why I try to reason with you, but I'm stubborn at times, and refuse to believe things.

What game?

Also, I recently didn't give any shit about Renegade, because I managed to get a Crysis MP beta key.

And to quote from the Crysis beta forums:

That's quite ironic, because no one gives a shit about you or your beta key.
