Earlier today I was trying to open up Renegade. When I tried to open the game, the Renguard window popped up as usual, but then it immediately disappeared and the message "Failed to receive list of available master servers. Check your internet connection" came up. Now, this was strange because I haven't done anything unusual with my computer, and Renguard was working yesterday evening. I tried restarting, closing down my firewall, but none of this worked. My internet is obviously fine, so I'm not sure what the problem is. I'm not that computer savvy, so it could be something very simple for all I know. Any ideas?

Maybe the renguard servers had trouble. Is the problem recurrent?

Yes, I have had trouble with it all day, and it is still not working as of about 30 seconds ago.

I have had this problem as well, but for a period of two days.... Is it likely that the servers have been down for that long?

EDIT: Nevermind... It's my firewall being paranoid.

Everytime ive had this it has been due to internet connection, make sure you close anything that uses bw, msn etc.
