Arney? Usually you young people even get that one right.

Key thing here is to NOT buy originals. Always buy the remakes or reissued products, WW2 was nearly 70 years ago and I don't think you would want to put one of those things on even if you could get one.

Seems to be the cheapest jacket with a quick google search.

Military belts are a dime a dozen. I had some growing up but meh, doesn't beat a good leather one by far.

My friend gave me this real nice leather flight jacker! It has a map of Europe on the inside of it and stuff! I still have it but I got a more modern camo-army jacket, you DO NOT get cold when you wear this thing!

if it is a original, not a replica/remake (tons of wwII replicas out there) I would pay 100-200 dollars. first i would look at other people's listing on ebay to figure a pricing, and start it at 100 dollars, tons of people would bid if it is worth it.
