List what you think are advantages and disadvantages of each team (NOD/GDI). I'll start you off.

NOD: The "Assault" team in my opinion. It possesses characters/vehicles which are fast and hard to detect, but too easily destroyed. Being that most of them are a black and red color, they are far harder to see in dark areas than GDI.

GDI: The "Defense" team. They're highly armored vehicles, while not so fast and dextrous as NOD, are essentially, moving turrets, which are extremely hard to kill. They possess characters which are great for early rushes and base-defense.

When I saw the tittle I thought you meant just being in a team lol cause the disadvantage to having a team is all the dumb team hampering tank stealing 9-12 year old noobs.

GDI : For when you want to be seen and heard

NOD : For when you want to be sneaky

While GDI does possess more armor and attack, Nod has a great advantage over them in that they don't have to worry about getting their vehicles stolen by sbh so Nod can repair in the field. So if you don't have engines repping tanks on gdi then nod is better. And Nod is ofcourse better on big maps with multiple base entrances.

Nod's main advantage is Stealth. Stealth can also mean Nod's downfall as the stealth unit has the psychological weakness of avoiding conflict to avoid being seen. A SBH you discovered is more likely to run away before confronting you.

Uhm.....Arty's are point whores....Its not very common that you destroy any bases with arty's alone. They just provide supressing fire and help take out vehicles.

Get 2-3 Sydney's to use PIC's and fire on an art all at once > Mob Arts. They'll be do way more damage than the tech can compensate for, they'll all die, then the mammy's/meds will move in.

The best all around vehicle is the APC or Orca.

First, Surth, get out. Same for troop.

Second, PIC's ARE decent against arties, but they have some downsides.

Those being, they have to get somewhat in range of the arty to actually be able to hit it. The arty can shoot, too, y'know- And its splash damage is pretty devastating vs infantry. True, if the Sydneys could manage to hit the arty and it not be able to kill them off, they could take it down-

But it'd be alot better to grab an engineer and a medium tank or an APC and attack the arty with a more organized group (MRLS, 2 Mediums). They'd do alot more damage to the arty than the Sydneys.

While it's not a BAD tactic, there could be much better ones to take out artilleries.

However, to your main point being that arty's aren't a main tank force- I agree completely. It's very tiring seeing people constantly have about 4 arties (Most if not all not even having a tech backing them up) go out in the field and get their asses handed to them.

Arties are only really useful if each one is backed up by a technician. Now, if you have 4 arties with 4 techs, you can definetly hold the field- But as said before, this doesn't neccisarily make them a good assault force. Although, it certainly is possible to hold off a GDI assault then push forward and maybe take out base defenses.

As for the main topic itself, Nod ftw. It's just too bad that people generally don't know how to use Nod. As I said before, everyone seems to think arty's are gods of war.

It'd be alot cooler to see a few tech'd arties backing up a main assault force composed of a few light tanks and a few stealth tanks, and maybe even an APC. If you can manage to do it right, you've got a damn good attack force.

I've never been much of a GDI person, though. They seem to be more brute force than tactics.

TL;DR: NOBODY USES NOD RIGHT.

Saying the PIC is the best way to deal with an artillery demonstrates a pretty fundamental lack of understanding of the game.

The best options are orcas and med tanks. MRLS's too, but only at long range (like Field). Havocs and APCs are next. PICs somewhere below that.

I've always considered Havoc's as the best against arties. I guess Orcas would be better it's just you can't use them on many maps. Arties outrange PICs by too much to be effective in my oppinion.

When I play there will often be around three havys or so shootin at the arties and not just one. And at the same time there's usually several which will pwn a tank. They can also pwn the havies tho if they don't have cover.

That's funny troop, because I've played Renegade quite a few times. I played it not too long after it come out (Granted, I was a nub for awhile, but yeah).

And I didn't say that you were completely wrong in saying the PIC is bad against arties- I half agree. While they're not the WORST tactic to take out arties, they're certainly not the best.

Maybe you should go e-stalk my xfire account and see it says 523 hours on Renegade, just like you did with u6, only to be all "LOLZ U R TEH PHALE 4 PALYING RENEGADE 2 MUCH!!11" only to be a gigantic hypocrite and laughed at by the whole community as usual.

That also doesn't include the times I've turned off Renegade detection for xfire for scripts.

Still think I don't play Renegade?

The answer to "through what", then, is WOL/XWIS (Westwood Online). Some unfortunate bastards use GSA (Game Spy Arcade), and anyone who knows what they're doing uses some form of Direct Connect.

The only advantage I see in the GDI APC is that it's narrower than Nod's, allowing it to fit in places where the Nod APC can't (Under the bridge in C&C_City, for example). Are there others?

It's important to take the opposition into account.

eg, what will a GDI APC find itself facing? light tank, artillery, stank, flamer. It does fine vs stanks and flamers, it can put up a reasonably good fight against an artillery, it'll die to a light tank. Nod APC is likely to face med tanks, against which it doesn't stand a chance. so in tankfights, the GDI APC is better because it can better handle the tanks it is likely to encounter.

Sccrsorer wrotebecause the 150 sydney is better at killing them if it's more powerful it's only MARGINALLY more powerful, definitely not enough to justify the 150 cost vs. the free GDI soldier. I'm sorry, but what you gonna do with it even if you kill the arty? If you're so low on money that you feel compelled to use a tib sydney vs an arty, sounds like you need every last credit.

Rofl, thats the most faggity thing ive heard in a long time. Looks like ill just lookup your other nicks/IP using my secondary source, thanks anyway

Troop, you go around calling people geeks and nerds, and claim all they do is play Ren all day, and yet you have enough fucking time on your little hands to look up people's nicknames and IP's just so you can take even more time to be a total jerkwad to them online.

Yep, you figured me out. Meanwhile, you fucking suck shit at this game, everytime I catch you ingame I shit all over you, ask a 1v1, you say "busy". GFG. Funny, you spend so much time on this game and still manage to play soo shitty? D I S G R A C E

@mwright, you have to conceal your ingame nickname so I won't harass you? LOL. Grow the fuck up pussy. Im suprised your daughter hasn't killed herself yet having to deal with your bullshit.

I'm not 1v1'ing you Damir.

Maybe finish the one you started with TD first. Then, maybe have a re-do with Wiggles; and then hit-up Sadukar, and then Spooky and pretty much everyone whom you have yet to 1v1, and then, maybe THEN, I'll 1v1 you.

They're all in these threads, by the way, just for your convenience. I put them there for you because I'm such a nice guy, and I hate to see you leaving all these good people hanging. It's just not polite.

Given your rate, I'll be hearing from you in about twenty years. By then, you may have a fucking clue.

I'm not seeing a screenie of a 1v1 score. Instead I'm just seeing a stupid image by a kiddie that's been up a little too long past his bedtime.

Oh, you're all obviously mistaken.

See, troop is SO good, that not only does he never have to play Renegade to be so godly as he is today (Thus giving him the right to bash other people for playing Renegade so much), but he ALSO infact has taken the challenge of those 1 vs 1's, and beat them in the speed of light. Because naturally, there's no other possible explanation.

LOL at internets warz!

Anyway, I like both teams. My setting in the "My Information" screen in-game is set to "Random."

The thing I noticed is that both teams are essentially the same but with some added cosmetics like fancy vehicles (Stanks!) and some other fancy characters.

I think the SBH and Stanks are plain useless things. The SBH was meant to be a highly flexible frontline infantry unit actively attacking enemy infantry and stealing vehicles. How often do we see that in-game?

The Stealth Tank is another useless vehicle. It is like a "one-way death ticket" to assault the enemy base with no other uses.

Not completely true. I can't describe how many times I use an SBH to either stealth nuke on Walls or steal a Med on Field.

As for the stealth tanks...Ehm..I'm inclined to agree. Stanks are pretty much crap in my opinion. The ONLY time in which they are good are on big maps with no base defenses. In those cases they are actually great. (EX: Complex)

You're half right. They're good on maps that have enough room to maneuver around (City, Volcano, some places in Islands, Mesa, and Canyon). The presence of base defenses doesn't make that much of a difference, since maps with no base defenses tend to have one narrow entrance/exit to a base, and it's kind of hard to miss a bunch of stealth tanks coming in with all the traffic these areas get.

The stank's main use (Besides 1-way suicide rushes) is "ganking" the enemy in the field. 2-3 stanks can stop a rush if they catch it in the field unaware, maneuver behind it, and all fire at the same time (Or some similar tactic). The stealth tank is (obviously) stealth. For all you enemy knows, the map is full of them. They could be everywhere. Make use of the advantage, and make them fear the open space.

Stanks are meant for hit and run tactics when you're the only one. Works well for me. And as for throwing stones in glass houses, totally true, after all Cabal says so.
