I got this scam mail in my Spam inbox. Read this unbelievable shit:

Quote:Dear friend,

My Name is Mr. Nelson Brown, a senior Auditor and Heading-computing department here in our bank.

On my routine inspection I discovered a dormant domiciliary account with a balance of £35 million (THIRTY FIVE MILLION POUNDS ONLY). I have only written to seek your assistance in transferring this fund.

The owner of the fund was a foreigner, late Mr. Thomas Stockley. An American Citizen who unfortunately lost his life in the plane crash of Alaska Airlines Flight 261, which crashed on January 31 2000. I am proposing to make this transfer to a designated bank account of your choice.

You can view this link for more details about the plane crash

<http://www.cnn.com/2000/US/02/01/alaska.airlines.list/>

Note that this transaction is confidential and risk free. As soon as you receive this mail you should contact me by return mail. In the event you are not interested, I sincerely ask that you disregard this email and tell no one about it. I am very careful on truncating my banking career should you mention this to someone else. I hope you can be trusted in this regard.

Please note that all necessary arrangement for the smooth release of these funds to you has been finalized. We will discuss much in details when I do receive your response. Your share will be 30% of the total transfer sum after the transfer has been successfully concluded.

Please in your response include your telephone and fax numbers for a better communication between us. You can reach me on the email below:

Let me know if you can handle it.

Best Regards,

Mr Nelson Brown

yeah i get these from time to time, as well as ones from the government of Nigeria... saying that i can have a nice share of profits from blood diamonds or something alike. and they always want your bank account number.

its just a phishing scam nothing more...

in Russian there is a saying "the only thing in this world thats free is the cheese in the mouse trap" so never go for easy money... there is always a catch

I quite liked being informed that "follow our chat yesterday.." (in an email claiming to be from my doctor, signed by a "Dr Clare")

A few small problems... I haven't seen my doctor in 8 years, and he's male. o0

I don't mind people made such things up... but

IS THERE REALLY ONE WHO DOES SUCH STUPID THINGS A EMAIL FROM A STRANGE FELLOW ASKS HIM TO DO?

sometimes i really ask myself why mankind is the dominant species on earth...

Mr. Nelson Brown? Anagram maybe?

Wide image

Waffles! ROFL

It seems every week I'm supposedly entitled to a few thousand dollars from these scammers. One even wanted me to email him with the subject and text SUBSCRIBE He claimed that I had to do it for my seemingly random bank account in England.
