Could we release an updated version of the strings in the next patch?

My buddy and I are working on a map and we're adding some extra content (an Airfield for both teams which will allow you to purchase flying vehicles, a destroyable and repairable bridge, and of course, the harrier which we'll be using as bombers).

We'd essentially need:

Airfield
Bridge
Harrier (or Bomber)

We plan on releasing the source files for the buildings once we finish the map, that way other people can use the new buildings and make some really cool maps.

Or how about making strings.tbd server-sided? That would allow for custom strings.tbd.

No, strings.translationdatabase was created for a very specific reason. We aren't going to undo it.
