The first thing I would fix is stop making skins that are simply pasting images into photoshop and saving it as a .dds. Do something interesting.

I don't really know much about paint shop pro, but maybe you should try something besides door skins? Or make it actually look like some sort of door, like someone else already said.

This one is not great either, but at least it resembles a door.

Toggle Spoiler

I really wouldn't think that most people want to see a naked chick or a pot leaf everytime they turn around while playing Ren.

Here's an idea. Try skinning the door to make it like a sci-fi door or something.

Look at some of these, maybe
