Hello, for one of my classes I have an assignment to ask anyone what they believe through a questionnaire I independently come up with. So here are the questions..

p.s. this is not a debate, an enforcement of beliefs, or evangelism

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?
  2. How did you come to this conclusion?
  3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?
  4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?
  5. What do you think is your personal purpose?
  6. How did you come to this conclusion?
  7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?
  8. From what do you find most satisfaction?
  9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?
  10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

Good-luck on your project

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

No. We live in a biological world.

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

My parents are religious and I went to church as a child. Religion doesn't answer questions it simply avoids them. Science answers questions and proves what I believe to be the truth.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

God to me is a way for people to cope. It provides a source of hope, not being alone and understanding when all seems lost.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

I firmly believe in myself. I have the ability to accomplish what I need to.

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

I'm a biological being. My purpose is to reproduce. My goals are not exactly the same as my purpose. That's what makes me an individual.

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

Life is in front of me presenting challenges all the time. I get through them and push to succeed. Overcoming challenges is the basis for life so why should I expect anything else?

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

I am. I can't change who I am and I don't want to.

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

Making accomplishments.

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

Seeing my skills produce something.

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

Never have and I don't have a reason to. Matter is matter.

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

No, but I believe there's probably some form of higher power in the universe.

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

Simply through studying the ideas of different religions and atheists throughout time.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

A completely omnipotent being with free will that influences things at any time.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

Chance and free will.

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

Get a job and become a functional member of society.

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

Look around at every other person on Earth.

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

Yes.

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

Being together with friends!

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

It can be relaxing or plain fantastic in that you can let off steam and enjoy your time together.

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

Nope.

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

Yes, I believe in a God.

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

Lifetime teachings and evidence, and faith.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

The One God made the Earth and everything on it, and now gives us a choice on how to live our lives.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

-----

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

Be successful in finding my place in society, and in the Church.

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

Necessity for living in today's world...

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

Not as I'd like, but fairly so.

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

My own personal interests.

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

I can do what makes me happy.

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

Only sometimes, usually I am satisfied with myself.

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

Nope

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

I didn't really come to a conclusion. I've yet to even see anything even remotely convincing that there is one.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

In practically all religions I've seen or read about. god is evil, hypocritical and idiotic being there ever could exist.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

Nothing, when we die we cease to exist. Just think back to before you were born

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

To pass my genes on to as many woman as possible.

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

It is my in-built instinct, there is no conclusion.

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

Not really, but I know there a must less fortunate people than me.

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

Knowing I've done a good job.

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

No idea

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

Nope

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

No.

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

There is no conclusion. To have to come to a conclusion implies that I acknowledge the fact of such a concept in the first place.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

Something to keep people in check, mainly as a form of order keeping through fear, but mainly for the good of a society.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

Myself and the people I trust.

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

Have a good life that does not lean too much towards selfishness.

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

Influences from my family.

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

Yes.

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

Achieving something I've always wanted to achieve.

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

It makes me happy. Apart from that, not sure.

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?
Never.

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

--Yes, I believe in God.

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

-- Because science proves that there is a God, there are many things that they just don't have answers for and things just "happen". I also came to this conclusion in my own religious faith.

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

-- All powerful and someone who loves you regardless of who you are.

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

-- Not sure, it would take more "faith" NOT to believe in God. To much evidence proving that there is a God....

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

-- To live a good life and live with my family for eternity!!

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

-- Learning about God and the tools he has given me to learn about him.

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

-- Always trying to do better!

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

-- My wife and kid.

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

-- There is no other accomplishment that matches having an awesome wife and kid. No accomplishment, no pay check, no reward, no achievement is greater than a successful family.

10. Do you ever doubt who you are?

-- Not exactly know what you mean by that... I know who I am?

1. Do you believe in a god(s)?

Yes, (Christianity)

2. How did you come to this conclusion?

I was raised, but as I was young I saw something that no one else could see but me and it was something I could not explain, (dont flame please) and even being raised around family who would say f god and stuff I still believed since my minds open to whats could be

3. What does a god come off as in your opinion?

belief and faith that trys its best to make people better

4. If you do not believe a god(s), what do you put your belief in?

N/A

5. What do you think is your personal purpose?

nothing, I think once we created we are on our own

6. How did you come to this conclusion?

Just what i think, since good things happen to bad people and bad things happen to good people but if you look closely its what they do and how they do it and cant blame it on a higher power

7. Are you satisfied right now with who and where you are?

N/A

8. From what do you find most satisfaction?

N/A

9. Why do you find most satisfaction from that?

N/A
