Subject: Joining game message takes forever (playing on The First Decade and on Vista)

When I try to join a server, the joining game message just stays there... forever... I know I have every port open that needs to be on my firewall, so that's not it.

Any help would be appreciated, as this has never happened before... 2 hours ago.

Very strange, I suppose you tried different servers? Does sound like a firewall problem.

Try restarting your PC, if that fails, turn off your firewall...

Sometimes Renegade does weird things.
