This may every well be one of the last big Renegade tournaments. It would be a pity that one of the longest standing communities doesn't include a team. So just this topic to wake NS up so they can hopefully sign up a team eventually . I'd personally love to play against luv2pb, crimson and the likes .

We are going through some changes at the moment... new website, new game server (in another game). We aren't able to submit a team at the moment. We did, however, contribute $200 for the prizes because money is not something we lack.

OK, thanks for the clarification. Yes, the prize money is very much appreciated by the organizers, I'm sure .
