Okay how to aim better,faster with vehicule.

Example, when your in med trying to kill lt thats want to circle you around. Its best when you rotate your tank and turret in the way lt moves, it aims enemy vehicules,inf much faster. When you try aim just with turret it takes twice times longer, but when you rotate vehicule and turret its faster.

Alot of people just rotate turret around without vehicule, so i ope it helps.

I'm glad to see your trying to help but here's what I do.

Just click, don't hold the button down it's more accurate.

Say your a med fighting an arty

You would stand still, but as soon as the arty shoots, move.

It makes it harder for them to hit you while your in a med or any tank pretty much.

Oh yeah this will help your aiming in tanks, try holding SPACEBAR down it will make your tank driver slower thus steadier aim.

Lock vehicle camera to turret, and never use a free aim button in a vech again....that simple .

Ok here is my advice:

- Have the side of your tank facing the enemy. This is so you can move from left to right in order to dodge enemy fire.
 - Avoid holding the fire button down. Instead predict the movement of the enemy vehicle And fire when you have a good chance in making contact.

Also if you're in a flying vehicle, you can fly sideways by holding down ctrl.

Why am I picturing two tanks driving around in circles?

There are few situations where this is helpful as it slows you down way to much.

Sir, let me explain again. I have locked camera to turret, not using v. I mean..when you're driving any vehicle with turret its easier to turn vehicle + turret in same way to aim target which makes it much faster. Most of time people just turn their turret and vehicle stays the same position as it is. Its good when you're fighting against fast vehicles like apcs, hummmers,buggys lts.

it's easier to dodge bullets in some situations (tanks maybe)
