Pretty cool man!

Does the destination folder show in the screenie reflect where the installer will try to add the files?
Or was that an oversight when taking the pic, because you changed your own directory?

I remember thinking when the UMP was first created that no one would hardly use it, now it's like a renegade house hold name.

The default installdir it will show is C:\Westwood\Renegade

I just happened to do a testinstall into that folder is why it shows on screenie.
