Hey, i made a new shotgun.
But the muzzleflash is only in the third view, so i uploaded the 3ds max 8 scene in the zip folder too.

i hope you like it, comments please.

Laser is cool but kind of short, and I like the blue scope even though it's technically pointless to the welder... the whole thing looks neat. Good job

I'd use it if there wasn't all that junk on it, lasers and radars and crap, the model itself is nice, trim a bit off the upper barrel and you could sell it off as the Halo 2 Shotgun.

EDIT: Oh and fix the hand positions.

Wow, I like it, great job. The red laser I think is kinda strange looking, but the blue scope thing looks cool. The only real problem I have with it is that it looks like it sticks out a little too much when it's displayed on your back... more than the normal shotgun I would think. Other than that, GREAT job.

It's the Halo 3 shotgun.

So what?

I don't think that's the point they're trying to make.

The point is that he claims he made a new shotgun, when he didn't even say "It's from Halo", which insinuates that it's an original shotgun by him. Obviously, it's not original, as it's from every single Halo game in the series.

It's like RenX40k saying "We made a brand new, original universe with characters like Space Marines and guns like Bolters!" It disrespects the creators. So basically crysis992 is disrespecting Bungie for their hard work in creating their own shotgun from scratch by trying to pawn it off as his own work, whether intentional or not. And I fucking love Bungie for the Halo series.

I have spent so many nights staying up all night playing through every level of the games on Co-op Legendary with my best mate to know what that shotgun looks like by heart, thus why I knew right away.

EDIT: Spelling

i rly hate that lol.. i release something and get 70% shit comments.

I just said i made a new shotgun model, i didnt said something else... did i said its my own idea? did i said its a remake? i dont think so..i just said i made a new model, not more.

Why should i say "its the idea from bungie" ?

@Azazel:

Why? do you think i dont check this forum? lol and btw it is my work... its just not my "model idea"
...

but okay, then i stop releasing my skins.

Why would a shotgun need a display? To display how silly that is or what?

Why not? I like the weapons like this.

And i said that more than 1 time..

If you dont like the model dont download it, i made the shotgun for guys who like it.
