the truth is, sometimes renegade works and other times it won't work for days. restarting doesn't fix anything. the solutions i found in other threads didn't help. sometimes it'll go for weeks without letting me play. sometimes i'll b able to play for days without any problems. it's really unpredictable and really really annoying. any advice?

Are you running the lastest scripts? 3.4.4 if so you might want to re-install it.

Are you running it via The first decade, if so do a repair.

With windows 7 i've had it happen i just pass it off and play hl2 instead usually running another game for a bit or just going into task manager and stopping it if it did not actually stop playing if not then well thats what i have to do. of course my computer sucks

It seems obvious then what the problem is. Go buy the game, it only costs about 5-10 $.

DX11 should be backwards compatible. Save yourself the hours of work and go buy the game.
