I thought this release was worthy of its own topic here rather than a link hidden in a 10 page debate .

BlackIntel released a working pointsfix script. They clearly said they won't give support for it, but the usage is very straight forward.

What the pointsfix does is explained here: <http://www.renegadewiki.com/index.php?title=Pointsfix>

There have been many debates about this fix, but they shall not be redone in this topic. The main purpose for this release is so every server owner can test the fix for themselves.

Enjoy! And all credits for this release go to BlackIntel!

Perhaps it should be made a sticky then?

I'll wait until it drops a bit. People tend to ignore stickies =/.

Curious question, if I were to just put these scripts into a mod folder for a .pkg mod, would it work for just that mod?

Would be nice...

It would probably not, as it needs to be loaded by mss.dll and it should only run on the server. The client shouldn't need this and if the client does run this scripts the chances are pretty high it'll crash.
