Yes, but those maps wont have bots unless you have a flying map that has bots set up a lan game with 1 player and don't make it dedicated server (its dedi by default). Then you can put on any map you want and play them alone. Multiplayer training is hourglass only. But, as omar said, there are certain maps with bots you can download if you need any targets

When you enter the mainmenu click on "Multiplay LAN".

Then in the lower right corner click "Host Game".

Here should be an option "# of players".

Make sure this is on 1

PS> If you dont understand english good enough try google translate on the post you want to read

i did what you explained me but, it is still unworked and although I entered the game (HOST GAME), I could not use my character with my directions

P.S:When I changed my map, I could not use my character.
