Hey, about an hour or so ago I was playing on Jelly Marathon on field, and I started to get accused of cheating by a player called SvRprelude (or something similar). I HS'd him 3 times in a row. (Huge evidence, I know) I was a 500 Sniper and he a Shotgunner. Apparently he didn't know you could scope into the HON without being hit by base defenses. The other HS came from hugging that rock in front of the OB as he ran in a straight line.

Apparently that is a pretty mean feat. I then lag killed a player named GxMoney near our ref, he was standing still against the ref wall, and I HS - then to my horror he teleported behind the rocks near the bar and died. This wasn't exactly good timing to be getting lag kills.

I started to argue with them, and so I started to run fraps and tried to replicate the decent sniping with 25-30 FPS, it didn't happen. Raven and others were on IRC at the time, but nobody to my knowledge acted upon this whole situation.

I can understand Gx's point of view, because you can't get a HS behind a rock, period. On the other hand we have SVR, a complete moron who associates good sniping with hacking. Without trying to be arrogant, and knowing that this statement will sound like it - I hate it when players accuse you of cheating because they can't do what you can; or understand how you beat them so frequently, or simply because you're a better player than they are.

I didn't have fraps running at the time, and even if I did, I doubt anybody, let alone me, could still snipe at the same level at 25 FPS; it's just not possible, especially on an AOW server. Your reticle moves slower, people teleport around even more and your own movement is jagged.

So basically the point of this thread is how do I deal with this? I'm sure some of you know how it feels to sit there and be accused of cheating when you're completely innocent. I wonder what players like XvEzErX had to go through at times. How did players of that calibre prove their innocence? I don't have the luxury of having a machine that can run fraps and still be able to snipe comfortably.

I don't want to stop sniping, or try not to get HS (yes, I felt I had to do that yesterday), because I can't see why I should feel compelled to stop simply to avoid further accusations. It just feels like it's everybody versus me, and I can't do shit about it.

I run the latest scripts and use RR. Does this fully block the use of all cheats? If so, I can't see why I should be accused if this is known to players. Is there any sort of method I can use to prove that I'm not hacking whilst playing without Frapsing?

I wouldn't worry about some random noobs calling you a cheater. Happens all the time. If it's a good server with good mods, they aren't going to ban you based off of crying kids in game.

In battlefield 2 I just printscreened every hackusation I got because they were funny sometimes. If it gets you banned you can then send that Screenshot to an admin and get the ban removed.

I'm assuming renegade hacks aren't like aimbot wierd colour things of course im not entirely sure on what renegade hacks look like lol.

Also with the lagging part playing with a constant 300 ping has it's advantages and disadvantage, one of them is the lag kills which are quite funny to get. But sometimes it just plain sucks trying to have a sniper fight with someone that warps everywhere.

I always go along with it, pretending i actually do cheat. Typing !rghon and !rghoff randomly throughout the game, after already being accused, can get you some nice pm's from players. By now, i take "FUCKING CHEATER" as a compliment. Xv sucks btw .

I find it fun and it takes your opponent's mind off of the game and focuses it on the argument.

But eventually it boils down to your accuser saying "stfu u chet", and you saying "lol" and continuing to play. Why not just cut out the bullshit and skip to the end?

I suppose it depends partly on your reputation.

If your a new player and no one knows who you are then you would normally have to prove that you don't hack. But, if your well known to the server and the admins, Then you shouldn't have to worry about it.

Best thing to do is just printscreen the accusation and continue playing.

I've given up convincing people that I don't cheat. It just isn't worth the effort. Like, people will think you cheat in this game no matter what pretty much. I'm pretty awful, so the fact I get accused of cheating is funny.

Repeat the following phrase:

"Please consume fecal matter and expire."

When they figure that out, it roughly translates to "I know fancy words; that makes me smarter than you... now go eat shit and die."

If that fails, calmly argue with them for a few minutes and throw in some subtle trolling so that they Hulk out and undermine their own credibility by using caps. Nothing says "I'm right and you're a fuckwad" like being the one who's not yelling.

Or, y'know, you could just ignore the fools unless an admin takes notice. When that happens, calmly explain your position using your best "I'm writing a paper for school" typing and let the chips fall where they may. 90% of the time, a good admin will listen to the more reasonable player and kick/ban the douchenozzle.

No. That's not giving a flying fuck what others think.

...and how exactly does that give you "a functioning pair of balls?"

It's ignoring the problem and running away from confrontation.

The basic ideal response you should give is something like this:

"Believe what you want to believe, I really don't care. All I know is I'm not a cheater and that is all that matters."

Simply saying "lol" just makes you look like a loserfag.

Alternatively, I find it funny to play dumb.

Like, if someone accuses you of using an aimbot, you be like "WTF is an aimbot?"

Because people who don't have balls are women, and women get all emotional and try to form a positive social environment in such a situation.

The OP basically did this:

"Oh? What? You think I cheat! No! I don't! I really don't! I'm willing to sit here and discuss this with you for as long as it takes until you believe otherwise! I'll even avoid killing you and stop getting headshots if you'll just believe me!"

Pussy shit. This "believe what you want to believe" garbage is no better. It still stinks of politeness, political correctness, and caring about your accuser's emotional state.

Also, my usual response is something like "yep, I totally cheat, you got me, darn, you're so smart". Something obviously sarcastic.

They usually don't respond after that and don't do shit. It's pretty effective.

I find it fun and it takes your opponent's mind off of the game and focuses it on the argument.

And your aswell dummy. <.<

No, because I realize what I'm doing whereas the accuser doesn't.

They think I'm taking the time out of playing to argue with them when in reality I'm just trying to keep them busy.

It doesn't take me 3 hours of being stationary to form a response and send it... I can do it in a few seconds. So the joke is on them.

Women in the figurative sense. I don't care if they have a vag or not, but what I'm advocating is common gamer mentality.

i find "no u" a good general-purpose response to almost any in-game accusation.

just ignore them and keep raping them, i like to hunt people who accuse me to piss them off more. personally, i find it very flattering when i get accused of cheating, but that's just me. also, have you tried turning down your renegade graphics while frapsing? that would help with the fps.
