Got the original problem back!

After many attempts I managed to install it, now when I run it I get the orange "loader" screen that says 'Command And Conquer Renegade' then a few seconds after that goes I get the 'Renegade has stopped working'.

Below is the old problem

I posted about this around 6 months ago and didn't really get anywhere.

What I had the game on my computer it would load a black screen, then comes up with 'Renegade has stopped working' and crashes.

A friend of mine said to uninstall and then manually delete anything that was left behind.

So I did that and recently found the installer disk, now I run the installer and I get up to the actual loader (Where the units/guns appear and the bar loads). Then it crashes before it even reaches 1%.

Im on vista.
I have no skins, maps, patches or scripts installed (As everything is GONE)
Renguard isn't installed.

My specs are shown below..

Please help me :/

Tried running it as admin?

giving admin permissions does not matter. Running renegade without admin it still works just doesnt save passwords to registry. This is a scripts error i believe.

As in, the installer crashes, or the map loading screen crashes?

If it's the installer, try XP compat mode and/or admin mode - check the FAQ.

If it's the map loading screen crashing, try using Scripts 3.4.4.

Is your installer CD scratched / is it not a legal copy?

Its 100% legal, one of the original 2003 disks. Its somewhat scratched but I can't see that as the biggest problem :/

I attempted to clean the disk, and then tried loading it. The installer reached 61% then said there was a problem with the CD.

Scratched disk.

There's a CD image of the disk floating around somewhere... here

If you already have disk mounting software, you're set, simply mount the ISO.

If you don't, you'll need something like DAEMON Tools Lite.

Edit - this combined with this means today is simply not my day. I'm staying in my corner now.
