I second that. Most of the women in this thread look great, yes, but an average model isn't all that attractive. I know about 5 or 6 girls that do modeling and I can't say they're that hot. Way too skinny.

typical models nowadays look like they have eating disorders i don't find that at all attractive they get put up all over tv and i'm thinking Too bad none of these girls are attractive it's like they're going to try to force it down my throat until i cave it's not happening; they're disgusting

And a lot of "plus sized" models are not really all that big... The word "fashion" has lost it's meaning to me. As a matter of fact if it is in "style" at the moment I am prolly not gonna go for it. Like Papa Gaga for example...

FYI, I find some models attractive, but not overwhelmingly so. Looks alone don't do it for me. A few girls I know personally are more "attractive" than anything in this thread. Big breasts or a Hollywood face mean nothing to me. Eyes that you can see the universe in, a melting voice, and a weakening personality do. When you've felt that (be it full blown love or even anything of a lesser but same feeling), anyone else, even the most good looking girl, means next to nothing. jnz probably seems to know what I mean.
