You can work hard for something but that doesnt mean it's automatically good.

I wonder how did you start with this idea?
Since usually it is smart to have an idea of your finished concept.
Or a vision of what it is going to be.

I mean I have alot of stuff I just use for practising/improving my modding skills do I release them nope! (I think Reborn and Zion do the same thing?)

So in terms of releases think of what you did like to make and see released something with an idea behind it. (and not 6 crazy lines on a door)

I'm just being honest, no need to slander me for it.

Whatever happened to each to their own?

Yes; what I said was completely slanderous; your reputation is in disrepair.

Whatever happened to having a sense of humour and being light hearted about hugely serious topics such as these without me having to be so sarcastic to wonder why?

Sarcasm is hard to pick up in text, especially when I don't know you at all.
