If you get the new scripts 4.0 server side setup the newest version of BRenbot 1.53 build9 is incorporated with the server side mod be warned though in my last post request there is a bug in !auth system for this build which has not yet been fixed that I am aware of I have a request in to Danpaul88 for a reply when this bug will be fixed.

Further more have requested from the community for a work around to the !auth system with no replies that are a viable solutions or work a rounds.

Unfortunately getting answers to issues brings blind statements that make no sense what so ever however the serious users whom support the game with coding experience will.

However they are very busy and do not always reply in a timely manner that is they do have there own lives to live also I can sympathies with them there they do there best and so far they have done a great job with the work they have done for the Renegade Community we all should thank them for there hard work.....
