Or is it just my server? How am I supposed to show the real client version?

One possible explanation is that the 4.4 version number is comming from scripts devs (e.g. dblaney or jerad) running the latest scripts 4.x code which is what will become 4.4 at some point in the future and already has a 4.4 version number.

Are you getting it for your own client running release 4.3?

Yeah but I'm using Slabot made by sla.ro(master) so maybe it's that bot.

On the fds itself run the version console command and see what it prints out.
