very stupid...no better than all the idiots that say "no blood for oil"...at least the protesters have reasoning behind theirs. Tell me how Iraq is threatening our freedom. How are we endangered at all? My grandpa was a marine in WWII...he fought in a war worth fighting for....compared to these accusations that Iraq at one point helped fund Al Queda.

How are we endangered at all? My grandpa was a marine in WWII...he fought in a war worth fighting for....compared to these accusations that Iraq at one point helped fund Al Queda. Now tell me you dumbass. Why is this stupid? The anti-war protestors never had a fricken reason. We cant even get the oil because of opec so no blood for oil is not a good reason.

Saddam threatens our freedom. By our it means other peoples to. When Kuwait city was being occupied by Iraq the Iraqis would just shoot random people and blow up everyhting. We know it isnt a direct threat to the US. but in more ways then one it would come back to bite us if we left him alone. No matter what we will get blame for somehting no matter what way we go. We figure that if we take out what they have they can do less than what they wanted to do.

The "War" in Iraq is not a seperate war from the War on Terror. It is just a new front in the war. We had multiple fronts in WWII. Germany and Japan weren't the same enemy, but they were both enemies.

We are against terrorists AS WELL AS those who harbor them.

there are terrorists in America though. Terrorism will only be ended through mind control. And if it's against all terrorism...why aren't we anywhere else besides the middle east? What about Ireland? What about all these other places that we aren't even looking into?

Having terrorists in the US doesn't mean we're HARBORING them. If we knew they were here, we sure as fuck aren't offering them protection. They are taking advantage of the freedom we earned and have maintained for decades.

thats is the msot stupid argument I have heard. The Irish terrorist arent attacking people wide spread! They are attacking other Irish in a civil war pretty much. The middle east is the main place of this.

Ok here we go. Ignorance at its best. What about all of those embassy bombings? They were American embasys but they are still in other countrys. and the World trade center isnt just an American building. Thats why it was called the world trade center. somehting like 30% of the people in there were not from this country. So stop being a dumbfuck and take your head out of your ass.

Man this is what ticks me off here. You should take the advice of Nelson Mendela, "You can defeat a man and still leave him his dignity."

Of course I do expect people to forget that point. Yet on a whole the victors here almost always try to make a lesser man of the defeated. Far to much to be comfortable with.

Actually ...

In the court case trying the last hijacker of the 9/11 flights, new evidence was found proving that Iraq did indeed help the Al Queda terrorist network. The satellite images were bought by the prosecutors from a commercial satellite company. It was later discovered that the US intelligence agencies had photos, but were not allowed to release them to non-authorized personnel, and thus had not been closely examined. What the prosecution team found was a Boeing 737, in the middle on an Iraqi field, far away from any type of airfield capable of accommodating it. When Iraqi defectors were questioned about it, some told them of how people dragged the 737 into its location.

That 737 was used for the sole purpose to help train the Al Queda terrorists train for their hijackings.

Well isn't that an awful big conclusion. I mean seeing a plane then claiming they used it for training hijackers. Now I understand you could have forgotten to add a part saying the defectors also said that so if you did please correct yourself. But the Iraqis have been known to do strange things.

if you're really ignorant enough to think that Bush is trying to end terrorism, then you're clueless. He not only has a personal vendetta with Saddam, but he is at least smart enough to know that terrorism cannot be ended. I may not like Bush, but everyone with half a brain knows that it cant be ended...show me the fucking proof that Iraq helped plan the attack on the WTC, and then I'll agree with the song. untill then, it's all conspiracy theories why does iraq have to be involved with the wtc for it to be involved with terrorism? since when is there only 1 terrorist organization in the world?

links to iraq and al queda have already been shown many times, but that doesn't really matter. the fact is, saddam has openly supported terrorism for years. by taking out sadaam, we are stopping one of many governments that support and harbour terrorists. it is also sending a message to other countries like libya and syria that such behavior will not be tolerated. we will never stop all terrorists, but we can stop governments from supporting them and force terrorists to sneak around and hide and come up with weapons and travel arrangements on their own without the help and support of a government.

No one is saying that. As long as there is one palestinian alive, then the potential exists for terrorism. What they are trying to do is make it so untenable that foriegn nationals to consider this as an option.

If you are constantly on the run, your country is under attack, you have no money, and can't stay in one place longer than one night, it becomes less attractive than a firmly entrenched quasi-government movement based in Afghanistan.

Action is the only way to get things done, not sitting on your ass, waiting, and hoping nothing happens.

the israelites preform terrorist attacks against the PLA as well though. one hits the other and the other hits back and so on. I think just giving the PLA some country in the area would cure alot of the problems there. They would still be fighting, but not to the same extent at least.

For once you said something that made sence. I agree that Israel does perform terrorist acts against the PLA. Israel boasts to have the best intelligance orginization in the world. IMO they know when a terrorist is going to hit, and they allow it. Two years ago a night club in Tel Aviv(sp) was hit by a suicide bomber. In that attack, 2 children were hurt. What are kids doing in a night club? Israel uses the attacks against them to build sympathy for Israel and to justify attacks against civillians.

I feel that Palenstine should exist. The problem is the Palistnians don't want Israel to exist. It opens a door to provoke Israel to attack them for little shit and draw the rest of the Arab world to war against Israel.

funny how isreal, the us and the rest of the world are welcoming the road map to peace. they are about to start implementing it when more suicide bombings take place.
the palestinians don't deserve their own country. every time someone tries to work things out, they attack more civilians! the last thing we need is another country supporting terrorism.
let them try living without bombing isreal for awhile before giving them their own country.
it's like giving my children icecream after they take a baseball bat to the tv.

Israel is supporting terrorism against palastinians as well. I'm sure if Bush met with the leader of the PLA, he would give us the same shit that the leader of Israel has been giving us. They're two kids that just keep hitting each other back and neither one of them is big enough to lay off it isreal is targeting terrorists with soldiers. palestine is targeting civilians with terrorists.

isreal is the ruler of the land, palestine is the enemy trying to tear down the country.
isreal has made many concessions for peace including giving up land which is theirs. palestine has continued to support terrorists at every turn, never wanting a peaceful settlement.

isreal and the rest of the world has put up with arafat and his terrorists for far too long. it is about time that isreal stood up and slapped them down!
