Nice, but a little wrong. It should be something more like

'He who controls the past commands the future.
He who commands the future conquers the past.'

Unless it was intentional.

yes yes, that was the point....

ever notice that some movie trailers contain scenes that aren't in the movie....

ever notice that you can watch a trailer 5 times, and here 5 different phrases in one of the scenes
(The Core is a prime example)

so yes, it was intentional, i know the full quote

I also hate how in movie trailers they drag and drop dialog around to make phrases that don't even exist in the damn movie.

Movie trailers bite. I just want to see what the movie name is a tidbit on the storyline. Not a flashy, done up, series of the 12 best 5 second shots in the movie. That is like showing a bunch of good fighting scenes from a movie about the easter bunny.
