I just recieved an e-mail from Blazer, (or someone impersonating him) saying:

"Hi, this is blazer and NEVER POST IN MY FORUM AGAIN! "

Who was it?

And have any of you received e-mails about "sex toys" and "pirated software"? one says this:

Quote: PLEASE BE AWARE OF THE SPECIAL REPLY METHOD DETAILED AT THE BOTTOM OF THIS EMAIL **

Dear internet user,

It has come to our attention that yourself or someone in your household have been pirating and distributing software for home computers.

We are not sure if you are aware of the severity of this crime but we would like to remind you that anyone caught using/selling and or distributing pirated software can face a jail sentence of up to 3 years and a $5000 fine.

We at Scotland yard have been making enquiries for quite a while now and found that you are a frequent user/distributor of pirated software. We have passed the information we have gathered to your ISP and have informed local authority of this crime and would like you to reply to this e-mail to make arrangement to visit one of our local stations located nationwide to hand over all software/hardware held by yourself.

Please do not hesitate in replying to this e-mail

Another says:

Quote: PLEASE BE AWARE OF THE SPECIAL REPLY METHOD DETAILED AT THE BOTTOM OF THIS EMAIL **

Dear Customer,

We have being trying to contact you for some time about a mistake made by one of our delivery personnel. Our delivery man had an unmarked package containing some sensitive material to deliver to your address. Unfortunately the address was poorly marked and resulted in your package being delivered to the wrong address. After our delivery man realised his mistake he promptly returned to your neighbourhood to reclaim the package and deliver to your address. However he was unable to recollect which address he had delivered the parcel to.

We promptly contacted the vendors "XXX Sex toys" who assured us that they would dispatch another package for your address. We understand that this might cause some embarrassment and wish to give our apologies for the mistakes made.

Kind Regards

Ben Hume

I have no idea what they're talking about. Have you guys gotten these? Are they spam or real?

P.S. I visited the link, and it was an encryption site. Does that mean that they can't be tracked?

also configure outlook to not download the attachments from the server. Your mail gets in quicker and any attachments that you were expecting an attachment on can be easily downloaded.

Also adding a filter to filter any mail that is addressed to you helps with spam sometimes because normally spam is sent to multiple addresses at the same time.

Another thing is don't be stupid enough to actually open a file called readme.exe or welcome.pdf.exe as these are staring you in the face telling you that there going to be something nasty. Make sure you have a virus checker too, even one infected computer on a network can easily transmit it to anything connected.

Quote:We regret to inform you that we have rejected your application to model and represent our product Trojan Condoms.

Although your general appearance is not displeasing, our board of directors feel that your wearing of our product in the ad does not portray a positive, romantic image of our product. A loose, baggy and wrinkled condom is not very romantic. However, we do admire your effort to try to firm and fill it up by using an Oscar Mayer weiner.

We appreciate and thank you for your interest. We will retain your application for future consideration if by chance we decide there is a market for Micro-Mini Condoms.

We send greetings to your wife and/or girlfriend and our deepest sympathy.
