For those of you who care. Those of you who don't care don't flame this post just ignore it.

After a few days of going back and forth with someone from EA hes given me this information on the ladder system and other Renegade recources.

Posted July 29, 2003 03:40 PM

From what I gather, all resources for Renegade have been pulled to work on other things.

Are you saying that you can't connect at all to WOL to play games?

without WOL ladder the entire clan community supported by clanwars.cc will disappear,

It wasn't the best ladder but ClanWars ladder made a whole lot more fucking sense than Westwood's and kept the clan community going for exactly a year this month, but unless something better is put up most of Renegade's best players will vanish from the clan scene which is good news for all you newb3s I guess

We have been hearing this for like 5 months now. The brighter future will be in about 2 months when everyone leaves Renegade for Halo on PC. If nothing happens by the time it comes out, then I see no point. I doubt most people will wait another 5 months for this "brighter future" when they can just be playing halo.

no one said unreal would kill renegade planetside makes you pay per month, which is not appealing to most of the 12 year olds who play renegade

Generals is an EA nightmare wich no one sould buy. Also, everyone knew it would be a nightmare and no one said that was going to kill renegade.

Halo for Pc is going to be similar to the version for Xbox. It is already an established game, which generals and planetside were not. It is one of the best games ever made and has recieved more priase then Renegade has by far. Also, most of the people im refering to are the ones who play clan games. Since there the only people I find sane in this game, and also the only ones who are any good at it. There is no way in hell they are going to stay if there is no working ladder. What brought all the ladder whores and all the clan players back so many times is the fact that there was a ladder. There has been no working ladder now for what 3-4 weeks? If we have to wait for this great new future for the ladder system to come back then you can kiss most of Renegade players good bye.

No one? You must not have paid any attention at all, because I've seen loads of people say that every game released after Renegade would kill it.

Fact is, you don't speak for everyone, and your "Oh no I can't play ladder anymore so Renegade will die" is a rather pointless statement.

If you don't want to play it, then don't play and get the fuck out.

This isn't some little game where u guys keep your secrets from everyone. If something is going to come out that is going to change renegade and you know about it why are you keeping it a secret. Why don't you just tell us so we can plan what were going to do and wether or not its worth it. At least tell us if you know why the ladder is down and when its going to come back up. To be perfectly honest thats the only reason I'm upset. Is because you people know this stuff and you arn't saying anyting. Your keeping it a secret like its a game. If you cant tell us what is coming out you should at least be able to tell us why the ladder isn't working and when its going to be back up. That alone should fall under normal support for this game. Email EA and get no information back, no explanation, you don't even get an email back. It's hard to argue for this game when there is no support for it, and when the support you can provide you don't because you keep it a secret.

I can understand why some people - in my opinion mainly fuckwitts - who care about the ladder and would like to see it reinstated.
I doubt it will happen though.

As for ren being dieing off, the only way to be sure is to get a head count of all the players who beleaguered community.

Moaning about the time it takes for change to occur or flaming and being discourteous to people who worry (,well worry is such a weak word, I would rather say bitch,) about what will and may not happen. This does not help and is rarely constructive.

All we can do is hope that those who lead this community know what they are doing.

Well for me atleast, the ladder did alot of things. For those of you who just go looking for a game and don't care the outcome or whatever, the ladder means nothing to you.

I've been playing C&C games for about 5 years now and the ladder kept things competitive. It made players want to win. What fun is it to win a game when theres no record kept of it. Thats why I bought this and previous C&C games in the first place. They had something that kept things competitive.

You should see how big of a hit this took on the clans. I've only been clanning for about a month, but I could remember getting on and seeing 5-10 people on either playing or setting up a game. Now I log on and see maybe 1 person, half the time that person is AFK. Its totally killed the clan part of this game.

I've already noticed a great drop in players in the bigger games. Sure only ladder whores play in those games but its a hell of a lot more fun then sitting in a 20 player server where the games over in 10 minutes on rush maps because people can't defend.

Its not another game thats going to end up killing Renegade. Its going to be the lack of competetion thats going to drive everyone away.

I'll throw something in here on the subject of Renegade dieing. You see, in order for something to die, it had to actually really live to begin with. I mean, it's not like Renegade was a smash hit. At this point, there is just a core group of fans that will play this game until the day comes when we can just no longer actually play it online. Renegade will not 'die' because there will always be the same core group here fighting for it.

EDIT: that didn't come out as eloquently as I thought that it was...

Jesus fucking christ on a pole, when will you ladder-haters fuck off and die already? If you don't like it, ignore it. But the lack of one sure as hell isn't going to improve the game any. It added competition, as olddust said, and that is what I love. Pointwhores, love 'em or hate 'em, are generally (SEE THAT WORD?) the better players, as I see it. Even it was always fixed, you will probably never see me as #1 in the game, simply because I don't have the time to donate to it (or don't care enough to put forth the time) to achieve such status. It IS nice to attempt to work for a top 50, or higher rank. Competition is what many gamers love, and as olddust also said, that is what will kill this game, rather the lack of it. I still play, and probably will for who knows how long, but I know a lot of players who HAVE left since the ladder went down. And from what I have heard, many have gone to Planetside. The number of GOOD players have dropped dramatically since the ladder went down.

As for the people who continue with the "wait and ye shall recieve" bullshit, give me a break. A good strategy is suspense, but unfortunately this will only take you so far before the general public stops caring. To prolong the time before said line is reached, one would give updates, no matter how miniscule, to keep interest peaked. However, on a message board that not everybody who plays Renegade attends, with talk from people who have no public connection with the official company, the line is quite subjective and should be treaded on lightly.

As far as I'm concerned, and until I see any definite proof, any and all who talk like they know more than the common gamer are full of shit. I DO NOT mean this as an insult, but as a personal opinion(albeit a harsh one) which has just been made public. One can continue to talk about the update until it comes, and say "I told you so", or until the game all but dies and nobody can call them on it. It appears to be a win/win situation.

Perhaps I'm a bit late on this particular topic, but I've been lurking a while, and have got just a tad sick of people who claim to know more than the common gamer, but conveniently can not share any information as proof.

If you are willing to, or even can, answer me these questions:

1. Do you work for EA?
 - A. If not, do you know somebody who works for EA?
 - a. If so, what is his/her name? (Revealing your friends IS NOT breaking any kind of moral code. I did not ask if said person leaks information to you)
 - B. If so, what is your name?
 - a. What is your job at EA?

Hmm, well said TheGurm. Tuesday looks like the deadline for a fair amount of players. Something doesn't happen soon I will probably be looking into something else to play. The lack of support EA has given this game with the lack of information Crimson is giving us has combined into a bunch of bullshit.

Crimson, you want people to continue to play this game you better start supplying some type of information. How can it be such a secret of when the ladder will be fixed IF it is going to get fixed? The word I've heard was that it would be fixed in 2 weeks, and Monday that 2 weeks will have expired. So lets see whats really going to happen, eh?

What would have shown, by EA, that they cared about the users who buy the product would have been for them to have made a post. They should reply to the posts and they should keep the players informed.

Despite all of you who say that Ren is nothing, well there were 50,000 users names so hmm do the math. 50,000 by $60.00 is a big chunk of cash.

Even EA should have enough brains not to tick off 50,000 people.

The point is they should have informed the community the ladder system was going down, they should inform the community when it will be back or what exactly their plans are with it.

Some suit way up there that does not play games and only has love for the boats and cars we the players bought for him made a decision. Someone with half a peanut in thier head at EA should be smart enough to not let their buying public sit in limbo. It does nothing but make me shop elsewhere for product.

Patch and Olddust are right. The ladder is what keeps this game going. ACK your saying ppl will still play? Nobodys gonna play this game just to earn wins without the record being kept. When ladder was up, there would be 3 or 4 clans in chats looking for a clanner. Now theres nothing - all cuz ladders down. Crimson holding back information is nonsense. Thats as if ignoring part of the "renegade community". Halo for PC and Savage might be the death of renegade, right now i know of about 2 major clans going to savage and another going to Halo. Mind you, these are about the only 3 major clans even still in renegade, all waiting to know whats up with the ladder. But as olddust stated, this wont be enough to keep us all here. ACK your right tho, ppl have said that certain games will kill renegade, and none did. But theres a difference between then and now - there was a ladder system up then, but now theres nothing. If Halo or Savage have a proper ladder system dont think most clans will stay around to play a game without any. And this, cant tell anything yet, honestly i doubt whether Crims has any intell at all.

Alright, well has now been two weeks since the email I got that said the ladder would be up. Today was supposed to be the day, but nothing has changed. I, myself, will probably give EA until September 2nd for my own reasons, most people are leaving as we speak. -LT- has totally fallen apart, the other top ranked and most active clans are also falling apart rapidly. When I do leave, if I do leave for the lack of a ladder system, I wouldn't mind having something I would consider fun and the rest of you would consider a nightmare, if you get my drift.

To be honest, i couldn't give less of a shit if there was a functional ladder in Renegade.

Personally, i play online simply for the boinks and booms of battling. Every background statistic that happens outside of gameplay, really doesn't bother me. The only stats i look forward to are the end game results table if your team wins.

However, i can completely understand that the clan peeps would be a little concerned on this issue. To which i can give you some advice - if you really enjoy renegade, don't leave just because of some ladder downtime.

The game is worth more, much more.

First of all, Crimson and your little friends who think your so godly because you talk to EA and know things like "the future is brighter then we think" can suck me off. You people act so good and all-knowing, but in reality, your idiots. Your the ones who's making a lot of people worth anything on this game leave. I mean, come on, take away all of the clan people and all you have are basically a LOT of ladder n00bs. You should tell us what your little "secret" is, because telling us you know more then we know isn't helping at all, but instead is making everything a lot worse. Knowing that certain people are treated better on a game doesn't raise my opinion, and I'm sure it definetly doesn't make others happy either. You should tell us, your COMMUNITY, what you have in store, because US, the Renegade COMMUNITY, is EVERYTHING to this game.

Aircraftkiller, What is your problem? I don't get it. I don't mean to be an asshole or anything, but you always seem like your pmsing or something. I mean, God, you ALWAYS are angry.

olddustnpsmith82To be honest, i couldn't give less of a shit if there was a functional ladder in Renegade.

Then shut the fuck up. At the beginning of this post I said if you don't care, dont flame. Learn to read

- a) I do care and i completely understand how you feel.
- b) That was nowhere near a flame post - flames are directed AT specific people and are generally abusive TO the thread starter. Just because it had 'shit' in there, doesn't make it a flame.

What i wrote was an honest opinion, not a flame.

A flame post would be along the lines of...

Quote:Why the hell are you bothered about a stupid ladder?! Everyone knows the renegade ladder is shit and means nothing. You're a n00b and you can't get over this simple fact.

Just STFU.

keep up the good work ack & crimson

as far as all the lame ass flammers go shut the fuck up everybody knows that you want the ladder back up and running same as me but there is shit all we can do about it SO LIVE WITH IT. there is no sence in flaming ack & crimson for any of this they dont run ea so stop blaming everybody else and yes i agree the ladder is a big part of this game and should be up and running again, but if you people keep up this shit then it is gonna take longer to get up and running just cause they wont feel like doing it.

and as far as renegade dieing THAT WILL NEVER FUCKING HAPPEN and yes people will always leave but we always get new people playing this game and the ones that leave will be back and they know it.

just my 2 cents worth

EA has been blowing smoke up our asses from day one, it seems that they will say whatever they need to in order to get what they want. there is nothing going to or happening with the ladder or Renegade for that matter, and im sorry to say this, but what you have is what you got.

if the players of the game want to step forward and do something, great, otherwise, this game is dying on used resources.

We do NOT need the ladder. It is candy, but we do NOT need it.

It does NOT determine the lifespan of this game. The pointwhores who craves ladders are gone on to games with this feature, and quite frankly, good riddance.

A real player who can overachieve does NOT crave ladder pointS. TRUE RECOGNITION COMES FROM ADVANCED GAMEPLAY.

I can't remember a single #1 ladder whore, but I do remember Blazer, ACK, christine, foenixz, silexz, Demo, Reptokill, Gizbotvas, Msgtpain, trueADM, spuds, apoc, Javaxcx, Priest of B, and many others who work together well, and make a real challenge when I am up against them.

This is what makes a quality experience in renegade. Battle against a thinking opponent who is able to counter my moves, counter my strategies, and able to give, and follow orders.

Pride has no place on the battlefields. It comes after the battle has been won, and hardfought.

It's nice to finally see one of the 'community leaders' come out and tell us what we already know without trying to blow smoke up our ass.

hareman'll have eggs bacon spam and eggs

LOL

CrimsonAll that matters is if YOU still want to play. The ladder will get fixed... some people just don't have the right contacts.

Is that the "bright future" or just part of it?

btw, Crimson, are you telling us we may have to wait another 8-10 months for this "Bright Future?!"
