I am starting work on a special project for rengade and the rest of the C&C series. For this project, I need PHP coders, lots of them. This would involve you to do some very intense PHP coding, so experience is a must.

Right now, I am not going to say what exactly this project is, however if you apply, then of course you will be told to see if you are interested or not. This project, I imagine, will be very large and extremely popular.

If you are interested in applying for the "secret project" then please email me at: zerokewlz@comcast.net.

Thanks
zerk

He never said he was going to code anything for the game, he never said it was a mod, all he said was that he needs alot of php programmers for his "secret project".

I'm not wonderful, but I can manage. I'd be interested in this project for the experience. I only know a few commands because that's all I've needed to use.

webmaster@renfiles.com -- Tell me what you'll be needing.

Sir PhoenixxAre php programmers the only people you are looking for?

That is the MAIN thing I am looking for. The rest I think I will be able to manage. A general programer for html is not needed since i can easily do that. Graphics might be the only thing I need. Why, do you ahve something in mind?

z310Sorry douple post (cant delet this post)

You can't delete that post because you already posted after it. Now, why didn't you delete the second post, which was the double post?
