Actually, you're own members got you banned. They're the ones that cheated in the first place. You should look at blaming them before us.

Homey,

the last time FOG played LT, server shutdown ended things.

If you have a killer connection, I throw my hat into the ring. Post here or in our forums. FOG challenges you (still).

Yes you can't just jump on and expect a 10v10. You have to set it up with the clan at least a week in advance.

It has become apparent that most other clans are full of underaged children that have nothing better to do then talk garbage about other clans. And then expect a match.

You want a match agenst WL you need to set it up. We have lives outside of the game. And until you grow up by about 8-9 years you too will have lives.

:rolleyes:

If the topic was locked it was probably because it was pointless. Admins only lock topics if it gets out of control from the original post.

If someone posts something about Cheese then it turns into who cut the cheese then turns to terds and toilet snakes. That's out of control of the original topic. Ergo gets locked.
